NEW FRIGID BLAST SWEEPS IN FROM NORTH

Snow, Much Colder, Promise of Weatherman as 2-Day Cold Releases Grasp.

8 ABOVE LOW HERE TODAY

Zero Weather, More Severe Than First, Due to Strike Tomorrow or Saturday.

A two-day cold wave released its grasp on the Mansfield area today, but a new frigid blast from the northwest, more severe than the other, bore down on the state, forecasters said.

The new cold wave, due to reach Ohio tomorrow or Saturday, will bring more snow and zero temperatures and will remain over Sunday, the forecast said.

Mercury Climbs.

After registering a low of eight degrees above zero early today, the temperature in Mansfield rose to 26 at noon. The low this morning was four degrees higher than yesterday's record for the season of four above.

Light snow and colder tonight and much colder Friday was the general prediction today for Ohio and most of the midwestern states from Ohio to Colorado.

A dozen midwestern states, which had shivered in zero temperatures for two days, reported readings in the high 20's today as the widespread cold blew itself eastward with diminishing force.

2 Die in State.

Two deaths in Ohio were attributed directly to the cold which claimed at least 29 lives in the nation. At Bridgeport, at the extreme eastern side of the state, Stanley Zbanewicz, 48, died from exposure. The other victim was Inar Stangaard, 55, of Cleveland, who died of carbon monoxide poisoning, traced by police to a defective bedroom gas heater.

William Novak, 36, a WPA worker, and his nephew, Thomas J. Pickett, jr., 14, were believed drowned in Lake Erie near Cleveland today when coast guards failed to find their light fishing craft. Two tangled fishing lines indicated the pair might have been lost in rough seas.

The new cold wave settled over Iowa, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska today, and temperatures far below zero were reported in three states.

The coldest spots were Pembina, N. D., with 24 below zero; Warroad, Minn., 23 below, and Wausau, Wis., 20 below. Chicago had

'SHE'S' A BOY

'Girl' to Go Back to School as Male After Operation.

MADISON, Wis.—(INS)—Entering the hospital three weeks ago as a girl, a 15-year-old high school sophomore will rejoin her classmates in the next ten days as a boy.

A minor operation, it was revealed today, has virtually completed the transformation of Leonora Ammann of Rice Lake, Wis., into Lee Ammann. A second simple operation later will allow Lee to grow to normal manhood.

Dr. Lee Stovall, superintendent of the State General hospital, explained the case was rare but far from unknown in medical annals.

"Lee always has been a boy," Dr. Stovall said, "despite the fact he was raised as a girl. The true sex distinction was latent until the operation was performed."

Cage Player Wins Game For Foes With Scramble Basket.

DENVER —(AP)— With the score tied 28-all, Ross Plymell, Brighton, Colo., guard, came up with the ball after a wild closing-seconds scramble and looped a spectacular one-handed shot into the basket.

His breath-taking toss won the basketball game 30-28—for Denver's Red Shields, Brighton's opponents. Plymell scored in the wrong goal.

GAS BLAST FATAL

LANCASTER — (U.P.)—Lester N. Patrick, 28, oil company employe, died late yesterday of burns received in a gasoline engine explosion at Sugar Grove.

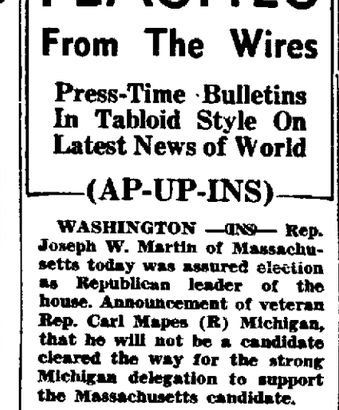
HARRY HOPKINS: Even His Enemies Like Some Points About Man Who Needs Senate OK For Cabinet Job

RELIEF CHIEF Harry L. Hopkins got greatest fame for verbal scraps as he defended relief system, and as biggest employer in the U. S. (hired 4,000,000 in one month). Sat with cabinet long before F. D. R. named him secretary of commerce. He's 48, has been "on relief" in Washington since 1933.

FATHER of Diane, cute daughter of the late Mrs. Hopkins, and three sons by divorced first wife, Hopkins occasionally takes time for play. Likes horse races, boxing, golf, poker, bridge, poetry and baseball, which he used to play to get money for college. He was born in Iowa, a harness maker's son.

INSPECTOR of public works, he frequently has gone trouble-shooting in person to get the lowdown. Thirty years' social service gave him deep humanitarian convictions, which some of his opponents say are "too deep" for sound economics in handling the billions of dollars in the huge relief fund.

SPENDER of billions (eight in five years—American record), lover of red galluses and hater of red tape, he's called genius of administration. Often eats (salad, rolls) on jump. Has been accused of being unsympathetic toward business, though he says he is a firm believer in private enterprise.



ILL with stomach trouble early this year, Hopkins doesn't look well but still has plenty of fire in his eye. He's colorful talker, nervous, energetic. Opponents have often prefaced attacks with statement they think he is honest but that ideas on spending are wrong. Appointment must be confirmed by Senate.

TVA Chairman

Defeated for renomination, Senator James P. Pope of Idaho is expected to be appointed chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, according to Washington reports. Pope will succeed Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, whom the president discharged for "contumacy."

HANSON SLATED FOR STATE POST

Ex-Health Commissioner Seen in Bricker Cabinet; Rehder Mentioned as Assistant.

Dr. Millard C. Hanson, former health commissioner here, is a "likely choice" of Governor-elect John W. Bricker for the post of state health director, the United Press reported it had learned in Columbus today.

Dr. Hanson is now health commissioner in Toledo, a post he left Mansfield in 1937 to accept.

Coupled with the report that Hanson might become state health director was another report, which came from usually authoritative circles here, that Dr. Roy C. Rehder, who succeeded Dr. Hanson as health commissioner here, would be named an assistant by Dr. Hanson. Dr. Rehder could not be reached today for comment.

Dr. Hanson has won recognition throughout Ohio for his work at Toledo. While in Mansfield, he led a fight against a typhoid epidemic.

Dr. Hanson came to Mansfield in August, 1930, and left here to accept the Toledo post in April, 1937. Dr. Rehder, his successor, joined the Mansfield health department in 1936.

FRANCO'S ARMY BATTERS ENEMY ON RIVER FRONT

200,000 Insurgents Thrown Against Loyalists in Bid to End War Quickly.

(By International News Service)

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier — With redoubled violence, the biggest battle of Spain's two and a half-year civil war—said to be the Insurgent's supreme bid for quick victory—raged today over the rough and frozen Segre river front.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco threw 200,000 men into the fray at the key point, the Balaguer bridgehead, but a government military bulletin said the assaults, in spite of the use of deadly Italian equipment, were "completely repulsed."

Although 10,000 projectiles were hurled into government lines in a five-hour artillery barrage along the Segre near Balaguer, according to a Barcelona announcement, Franco's shock troops were able to make no progress, and many Italian prisoners were taken.

Take 800 Prisoners, Claim.

Insurgent headquarters countered this assertion with a communique saying Franco's men "smashed government fortifications in the Balaguer area, 16 miles northeast of Lerida, capturing another 800 prisoners and destroying twenty government war planes."

The record battle along the frost covered river valley and the French Accuse Quartet of Embezzling $3,660,000.

PARIS—(AP)—Charges of the embezzlement of 140,000,000 francs (about $3,660,000) were made public today with the arrest of four men formerly associated with the French Pathe Film company.

Warrants charging fraud and conspiracy to defraud were issued for their arrests by an investigating magistrate.

Those held were Bernard Tanenzapf, also known as Natan, former head of the Pathe Cinema company and once known in Paris as the "czar of the film industry," Jean Cerf, known in Paris racing circles; Alexander Joannides, self-styled inventor, and an attorney named Caron.

Richland Red Cross Leads All Ohio for Fifth Year

9,392 Memberships Reported In Final Check-Up, Gain of 336 and Highest Since World War.

For the fifth consecutive year the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross heads all other chapters in the state of Ohio for per capita memberships, a telegram from Everett Dix, eastern area manager, said today.

A final check-up of memberships shows that 9.392 adults in Richland county have enrolled under the Red Cross banner for the ensuing year. W. J. Locke, Roll Call chairman this year, pointed out that this figure was 336 more than last year and 1,336 members over the quota.

The figure is the highest since the years of the World War, and represents an almost unbelievable increase in the past 15 years.

67 Members 15 Years Ago.

The Roll Call 15 years ago brought only 67 members to the Red Cross from the entire county. The following year, when Gertrude B. English, the present executive secretary, took over that position, the Roll Call brought several thousand members, and it has increased steadily since that time, until this year when it came within a few hundred of the 10,000 mark, a figure reached during the war.

Ruth Spencer Beckman, Mansfield woman who has attained national recognition for her Red Cross work both here and in Europe, and who is an officer with the national organization at Washington, said today that the Richland county chapter had done an outstanding piece of work this year in its Roll Call. Mrs. Beckman is spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Spencer, Sturges avenue.

WOULD END WPA

Congress Bloc Favors Plan to Make PWA Permanent.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A congressional demand for gradual abandonment of the WPA was forecast today by some legislators in discussing a proposal to make the public work administration a semi-permanent agency.

Although they expected little opposition to an emergency appropriation to carry WPA until July 1, several senators said they believed the next congress must decide whether there is to be long-time planning for relief needs.

In this connection, there have been proposals that congress draft a WPA construction program at least a year in advance, tentatively set aside the money to carry it out, and permit the PWA to take applications for projects.

Cautiously, Mayes opened the door—and found a 'possum feeding on fruits and jellies.

TACKLE CITY'S APPROPRIATION BILL FOR 1939

Mayor, Auditor Seek Estimate on Revenue So Council Can Revise Budget.

City officials today tackled the job of getting into shape the annual appropriation bill for presentation to council early next month.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter and City Auditor Paul L. Kelley called upon County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe at the courthouse in an effort to obtain "some idea" of the revenue that will be available from taxes during the coming year.

Hunter said the estimates were necessary so proper revisions could be made by council's finance committee when it starts to work on the budget figures.

Budget Totals $281,000.

The city budget totaling $281,032 for operating expenses for 1939 was approved by the county budget commission last August. This figure in an increase of approximately $4,000 over the 1938 appropriations.

Indications are that the finance committee will be in for some fancy juggling of figures to bring the budget within anticipated revenue.

Two items which have been estimated at $25,000 are not included in the budget. They include the item of hospital and medical care for indigent cases for which $18,000 was appropriated this year and a minimum of $7,000 to conduct a survey of the city's sewer systems.

Besides these two items there still will be the question of direct relief which was tossed into the city's lap last March and estimated to cost $100,000 for the year, part of which is now being met by state funds.

The budget figures show an increase for the police department of approximately $8,000 which indicates that council may give consideration to the hiring of at least two more patrolmen.

Hunter said that a rough draft of the bill probably will go to the finance committee sometime next week, but will not be ready for the approval of council in time for the regular meeting on Jan. 3.

FRANCE SENDS ARMS TO AFRICA

Ships Loaded Secretly While Paris Acts to Reinforce Garrison in Somaliland.

(By United Press)

PARIS—Two big French freighters were loaded secretly at special military docks at Marseilles today as the government sped its plans to reinforce its garrison in French Somaliland.

Stevedores were ordered to work day and night so that the ships the 11,375-ton Sphink and the 9-986-ton Chantilly, could sail Saturday and arrive at Djibouti, French Somaliland, next week.

It was reported that artillery and munitions would be loaded on the ships at night. All civilian cargo had been held up.

In addition to its other cargo, the ships will carry Senegalese riflemen who are to join French troops in Somaliland. The destroyers Epervier and the dispatch boat, D'Iberville already were under orders to reinforce navy units there.

The government was understood to be satisfied that the measures it had taken were sufficient to deal with any situation which might arise in connection with the Italian drive for concessions from France.

LEADERS PLAN 'RIPPER' LAWS TO OUST DEMS

Republican Assembly Would Abolish 'Lame Duck' Actions With New Legislation.

FIGHT OVER LEASURE JOB

Re-appointment Would Permit Dems to Retain Control of Job Law Commission.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The Republican answer to any last-minute "job grab" by Democrats will be enactment of "ripper" legislation to oust Democrats and make way for even more Republicans, it was learned reliably today.

Republican plans became known from authoritative sources as the Democratic-dominated legislature prepared to convene tomorrow—less than two days before its term ends. Gov. Martin L. Davey is expected to ask senate confirmation of two major Democratic appointees.

Would Retain Control.

One is Charles Leasure, chairman of the unemployment compensation commission, whose term expired yesterday. Leasure's reappointment to a six-year term would allow Democrats to retain control of the three-member commission, which will select several thousand workers to operate the distribution of jobless insurance machinery after Jan. 1.

The Republican legislature, which comes into authority next Monday, contemplates a quick undoing of any action by the "lame duck" session to give Democrats control of the unemployment compensation.

Republican leaders, who declined to be quoted directly, said that confirmation of Leasure—or any Democrat—would be answered by complete abolition by the new legislature of the three-member commission and its replacement by a five-member board, controlled by Republicans.

All five members would be appointed by Gov.-elect John W. Bricker.

Won't Back Knisely.

The Republican sources indicated the Republicans planned no action regarding the appointment of a new member of the industrial commission. Davey was expected to submit for senate confirmation the appointment of State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisely to succeed Thomas M. Gregory.

It was reported, however, that a complete reorganization of the state tax commission was planned to give the Republicans control of that important body.

Republicans have charged that the decline of sales tax collections is mainly a result of lax administration. They contend the only way to bring effectiveness is to revamp the commission.

County Collects 98 Per Cent of Personal Taxes

Richland countians paid 98 per cent of their personal property tax during the last half 1938 collection period which closed recently, figures compiled at County Treasurer John E. Kolb's office showed today.

Less than $3,000 of the $211,714 due for the half-year period remained unpaid today in one of the best personal tax collections in the county in recent years.

Payments for the period, which totaled $208,816, included $151,805 in general personal tax and $57,011 in classiifed tax. Only $700 of the classified tax was not paid.

The figures represented current taxes only, the delinquent payments being classified in an independent fund. Delinquent collections during the half-year period amounted to $4,319.

Most of the tax was paid by industrial firms in Mansfield and the county which are required to pay levies on factory and office equipment.

Boys Break Into Impregnable Government Mint 'Just In Fun'

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Two 15-year-old boys, who "just wanted to see if it could be done," broke into the United States mint at Buchanan and Market streets—a structure generally considered to be the most impregnable government building in the country.

Avoiding tear gas equipment, impenetrable, attack-proof steel, heavy bars, intricate burglar alarms and a small army of guards, the boys easily got into the building last night.

They told government men that it had been "simple."

"We went around to the Octavia street side of the building," they said. "We found the windows nearest to the ground barred. So we climbed up a pipe to the second story and crept along a ledge until we came to a window that was partially open."

The boys, Paul Francis and William Gallagher, pushed open the window and climbed into the building which the government completed two years ago to house and protect millions of dollars.

A guard on his rounds found the boys, blinked his eyes in surprise and sounded an alarm. In a moment the boys were surrounded by machine guns, guards and mint officials.

"We just wanted to see if it could be done," they said. "It was easy. We didn't mean any harm. It was all in fun."

Autoist Runs Over Would-Be Bandit But Can't Find 'Victim'

Wilbur Poffenbaugh, Bowman street road, is convinced he thwarted an attempted hold-up north of the city last night by running over the alleged bandit with his car, but he was unable to produce his "victim" for Sheriff E. P. Long.

Reporting to the sheriff at 6 a. m. today, six hours after he believed he struck a colored man with his automobile. Poffenbaugh related how the man stepped in front of his car north of the Empire steel plant and brandished "something shiny."

Poffenbaugh said he struck the colored man, whom he believed to be a bandit, and continued on home without investigating to learn whether he had been injured. The alleged bandit attempted to stop his car shortly before midnight between the B. & O. and Pennsylvania tracks on Bowman street road, Poffenbaugh related.

He was unable to find any trace of the man when he returned to the scene of the incident this morning, Poffenbaugh said.

Attaches at General hospital said no one answering the description of the supposed accident "victim" was received at the hospital during the night.

Trades School Big Help to Women

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Old Mother Eve must have whispered into the ears of those who operate the Manhattan School of Women's Garment Trades, New York City, when she urged them to open a genuine dress and millinery shop.

Everything that shop is made by the students and the money collected from the sales averages over $15,000 a year. This is turned over to the board of education. Fine! But not half as important as the fact that these girls know how to cut and fit dresses which give them an excellent wardrobe at the same cost as one or two dresses purchased at department stores. For, as everyone knows, the feeling of being well and becomingly dressed banishes fear and gives a girl a sensation of being tops with herself and the world.

Clothes affect a woman's chance of happiness. And the part they play in marriage cannot be overestimated All girls have a natural and proper desire to hold their boy friends. Wise women have warned them that an engaged girl or one who is going "steady," is eternally on dress parade And that if her sweetheart can't be proud of her appearance at any and all times, his affection is apt to wane.

If girls have to carry economy to the pinching point, here is where the Manhattan School of Women's Garment Trades looms as a beacon showing the way A girl doesn't have to be shabby and out of fashion and fear that, as her wardrobe shrinks and loses luster, so also will the boy friend's love. With a needle, thimble, pair of scissors and a couple of yards of material off some bargain counter, she can turn herself into a fashion plate, which will enable her to prance down the street or out on the ballroom floor with perfect composure and aplomb.

These girls seem to know something about the facts of life, as well as the facts of business. For, if they don't marry as soon as the ink on their graduation diplomas is dry, there are jobs awaiting them. Women's ready-to-wear garment shops are always glad to get these girls, even as designers, if they show sufficient talent They are equally welcome in tailoring establishments and hat factories, because their four years of training makes them invaluable They usually start at about $15 a week, and what they get after that depends upon the ability of the girls

In no sense does this high school attempt to compete with private industry Wholesale orders are not accepted The store is merely regarded as an outlet for the things made in the class-room And all the money realized is turned back into school supplies and material. In addition to knowing how to make lovely clothes, which suit every type of beauty, or those less-endowed with pulchritude, the girls are given a thorough course in salesmanship, which makes job-getting easy

Hyacinth bulbs should never be wholly covered The tops should be just visible above the soil or the tops of the new sprouts will turn brown and wither before they begin to grow. Bulbs should be planted at least four inches apart. Roman hyacinths bloom earliest

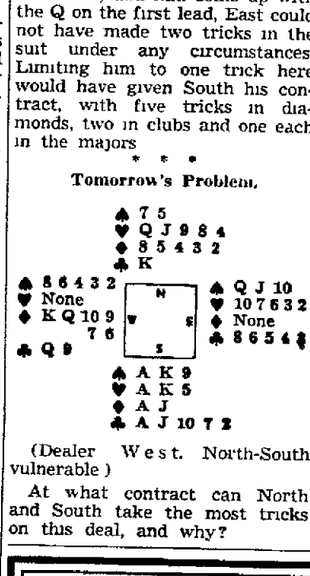
LIMIT YOUR LOSSES

From one point of view, the making of a contract depends upon the number of tricks that you take. From another, it depends upon the number that you lose. If you are able by one method of play to limit your loss of tricks in a particular suit to one less than would be given up by another procedure — without influencing the losses in other suits —you are obviously one trick better off.



(Dealer. North. North-South vulnerable.)

North began the bidding on this deal with 1-Diamond. South bid 1-No trump, West doubled, North passed, East 2-Hearts, West 2-Spades, North and East passed, South 2-No trump because he had stoppers in both adverse suits and also in clubs. North raised to 3-No trump.

When West led the heart 9, South covered with dummy's 10, and thereupon was doomed to defeat. East covered with the J, and his side was now certain to get two heart tricks at least, plus two in spades and one in clubs. South let East win that trick. A spade came back to the A, another heart to the A, a spade to the K, then the club K, to the A. South could run only eight tricks, then had to lose one at the end, to either the spade 10 or the club Q

Had South reckoned that the heart 9 was probably the top of a doubleton, and had come up with the Q on the first lead, East could not have made two tricks in the suit under any circumstances Limiting him to one trick here would have given South his contract, with five tricks in diamonds, two in clubs and one each in the majors

Tomorrow's Problem.

At what contract can North and South take the most tricks on this deal, and why?

Foundations Not Washed Often Enough

By MME. QUI VIVE

Said the corsetiere "It's treason to the sex and I shouldn't tell it, but some of the nicest women, the cleanest and most fastidious wear foundation garments that are a disgrace. I've seen garter belts so ragged and dirty that you wouldn't want to handle them. You'd feel like carrying them out of the house on a stick. It is something I can't understand."

Does that strike home? A lot of us are guilty We'll hate to confess it but the corsetiere is speaking heaven's truth. Panties, slips, and stockings may be changed every day but sometimes the old foundation garment keeps right on working without a bath from the day it is bought until the day it is chucked into the sartorial discard. Girdles don't fare much better. They're worn until they're streched and useless, ready to fall down over one's knees. They are the reason for wrinkled, twisted stockings, stockings that aren't neatly drawn over the ankles.

Why not have several foundation garments? The expense is no greater than wearing one until it is out of service That's the way the wise woman solves the problem.

* * *

Frequent washing won't damage a good garment. Lightweight models can be squeezed in soapy water, even rubbed on the board with no harm to the fabric. Several rinsings are necessary so that the suds will not discolor the material Hot water should not be used or very cold. The water should be warm enough so the soap will foam into a rich lather Hang the corset over a line or spread over a flat surface. If an iron is used, don't let it come in contact with rubber insets.

Heavier, boned garments are best laid on a flat surface, soaked well with warm water, scoured with soap suds and a brush Lukewarm water is used for the rinsing, and the water is picked up with a cloth until the garment doesn't drip Roll it in a heavy towel, spread out to dry or hang on a line Don't use pins.

Men usually like food in which the flavors are not concealed They favor, for instance, broiled steak and French-fried, onions, lamb chops and buttered asparagus, pork chops and mashed potatoes, broiled fish and sliced tomatoes Women, on the other hand, like a la king mixtures, deviled crab and similar dishes in which the flavors are blended.

New Ways To Fix Cauliflower

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

AFTER ALL the holiday fare, here we are with a batch of nice but simple recipes, good old everyday fare, which, after all, is the principal concern of the homemaker.

Cauliflowers are exceptionally good, so plan to serve this vegetable soon, topping it with a swell mock hollandaise sauce. When cooking the cauliflower, add two tablespoons lemon juice to each quart of water, if you want to have the vegetable emerge from the saucepan looking very white and handsome. To make the sauce you will require four tablespoons salad oil, two tablespoon flour, one cup milk, teaspoon salt, onehalf teaspoon paprika, three tablespoons lemon juice and two egg yolks Heat one tablespoon of the salad oil in top of doubleboiler. Add flour and milk. Stir continuously until thick, cooking for about 10 minutes. Add rest of oil, stirring continuously. Remove from fire. Stir in, again mixing well, the salt, paprika and lemon juice. Beat in thoroughly the egg yolks, one at a time. Reheat slowly, stirring all the time Do not overcook. If sauce separates, add teaspoon cold water and stir well Serve hot over cooked cauliflower

Spoon Corn Bread.

Spoon corn bread is always welcome and here is an especially nice recipe. Serve with a spoon in place of potatoes It requires one cup each buttermilk or lemon-soured milk, sweet milk, water and cornmeal, also one egg, one-quarter teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar and one-third cup browned butter. Mix and bake in a casserole for 40 minutes at 350 F The browned butter is what gives this spoon corn bread an especially delicious flavor. Incidentally, sweet milk soured with lemon juice may be used exactly like buttermilk in any baking soda recipe. Simply place one and one-half tablespoons of lemon juice in a measuring cup and fill with fresh, sweet milk.

Nice puddings are always in demand, especially when there are youngsters in the household Butterscotch rice pudding is a delightful confection that the rest of the family won't pass up It requires one-third cup rice, one-half cup cold water three cups milk, two tablespoons butter, one cup brown sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt and one tablespoon plain gelatine. Wash rice and cook until nearly tender in a double-boiler with two cups milk scalded and salt Meanwhile, cook together, in a shallow pan, brown sugar and butter until it becomes very dark brown but not burnt. Add this to the rice and milk and finish cooking until the rice is tender and caramel melted. Pour cold water in bowl, sprinkle gelatin on top of water and add one cup cold milk stirring until dissolved. Add gelatine to hot rice mixture and turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water, and chill When firm, unmold and serve plain or with whipped cream or with a fruit sauce. It makes six servings

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Don't take it so hard, darling!" she said. "I'm not yet quite sure what it's all about, but it sure puts me on the spot, doesn't it?"

"It ruins you," her husband said savagely, and Dicky gave an assenting growl.

"It's the most devilish trick a man ever played," he said. "I feel the way you do, Noel. I'd like my fingers around his windpipe for a few long delicious minutes.

"Only Philip Veritzen could turn that trick," he went on. "He's given her a technically perfect rendition, not a line, not a gesture incorrect, but he's taken every bit of life out of the role. And you say he insisted upon your rendering it in that mechanical way?"

"He wouldn't have a syllable changed," Mary said lifelessly. "I tried, once or twice, to do it my way, and he nearly took my head off my shoulders and hung it on the nearest hook So I gave up and did it just exactly as he wanted. He said once I was following his instructions very nicely."

"The next question is, What's to be done?" he said, and I told myself that nobody would guess he was already cognizant of every item of the scheme I had evolved for foiling Philip Veritzen's plot to take away from Mary the leading role in my play he had assigned to her.

"You surely aren't going to sit down with folded hands and let him get away with this, are you?" he went on.

"But what can anybody do against Father?" Noel's voice was like a funeral chant. "If he's made up his mind to take that role away from her and humiliate her publicly when the play goes into rehearsal, nobody can stop him. He's a law unto himself, you know."

"Yes, I know, lad," Dicky said kindly, "but it may be possible to invoke that law and make him reverse himself. If only there were more time!"

He paused, and I caught the cue.

"Would you like to see what we have tried to do?" I asked quietly.

"You've been up to something," my husband said. "I might have known. Go ahead! Show us"

"What about it, Noel?" I turned to him guilelessly. "Do you want to see what Mary and I have been doing, or will it interfere too much with your day?"

"Why! of course, I want to see everything you have done," he said earnestly. Then I crossed to Mary.

"Come into my room a minute," I said, "and we'll fix this up"

"You've put it over, haven't you?" she whispered. "Noel is being fed a rehearsal and liking it, where, if he realized we were simply doing our daily chores, he'd be frothing at the mouth. You are the 'beatnest' aunt a body ever had."

"Thank you," I told her gaily, "and now I want you to put on the 'beatnest' rendition you have given me yet. I'm not going to stop you at any point, but I'm going to make mental notes, so that tomorrow or next day, if Noel doesn't object, we can pick up the fallen stitches."

"Noel won't object," she said confidently. "You've sold him so well on this that he'll stand for anything"

"Let us hope so," I said, "but in the meantime let us get busy on this Come on back and make your audience 'tread the stars'."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, December 30

AN EXTREMELY lively but not entirely happy state of affairs is predicted from this day's planetary aspects, both lunar and mutual. While there seems to be a culmination or crisis in the affairs, with new contracts and plans relegating old matters to the limbo of the passing year, there also are difficulties, obstructions and depressing circumstances to be maneuvered to the new order. The stress may be in connection with an elderly woman, an affliction or a bereavement.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which much has to be adjusted, amicably and with discernment, to a set of new conditions incident to winding up affairs of the passing year. New contracts and agreements are under encouraging rulership, but there also is an adverse sign to be handled with fortitude and optimism. It may concern the passing or grave danger of an elderly woman, through whom, however, financial or legal benefits accrue.

A child born on this day may have a rather gloomy or pessimistic nature, which may account for barriers and misunderstandings with those having kindly interest and friendship to offer Its morbidity, apprehensive and studious tendencies should be directed to an optimistic philosophy of life.

Dogs having access to the house should be kept thoroughly clean and free from fleas. Serious damage may be done if fleas enter rugs or upholstered furniture.

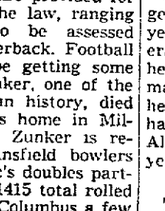
DUKE'S PROBLEM IS TO COPE WITH BOWL FOE'S SPEED.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

DUKE'S big problem in the Rose Bowl will be to cope with Southern California's speed, western observers contend . . . It is rumored that Ohio U's gridders lost a chance to meet one of the east's outstanding teams next fall just because an over-anxious supporter of the Bobcats, on learning of the proposed tilt, wrote the eastern coach and offered to bet even money on the Pedenmen. The eastern school said "Nix" . . . Box lacrosse, one of the few sports that Ohio fans have never seen, will be introduced in the Cleveland Arena Friday night. The game is patterned after hockey. In short, anything goes . . . Jimmy Webb will be at shortstop when the Cleveland Indians open their season next spring. Mark this down as a prediction . . . And Cleveland, apparently, is playing a baseball percentage in its decision to hang on to Julius Solters. There is an axiom in baseball that no major league ball player ever has two bad years in a row. And if Solters is a major league ball player, as major league pilots see mto believe, he will come back with a flourish next season.



Solters.

Delivered solemnly about this time of year by each succeeding Brooklyn manager is the announcement that Van Mungo will not be sold or traded "because we expect him to win 20 games for us next season." Mungo has never won 20 games for the Dodgers. He has been only an expensive promise . . . From Little Rock comes the story that University of Arkansas alumni will have a lobby in the state legislature this winter with the avowed intention of passing a state law prohibiting the Razorbacks from throwing forward passes inside their own 20-yard line. Fines are provided for the violation of the law, ranging from $5 to $25, to be assessed against the quarterback. Football really seems to be getting some place . . . Gil Zunker, one of the greatest bowlers in history, died of a stroke at his home in Milwaukee recently. Zunker is remembered by Mansfield bowlers as Frank Benkovic's doubles partner in the record 1415 total rolled in the A. B. C. at Columbus a few years ago.

An aggregate of five points covered the three defeats suffered by Holy Cross football teams over the last four years . . . Gus Dorais of Detroit U. has a stock reply for whose who ask him if any present-day coaches compare with Knute Rockne. It is: "No, they broke the mold after Rock" . . . Hollis Thurston, one-time major league pitcher, now operates an inn in California. He has the Meusel brothers—Bob and Emil—working for him.

Tommy Farr Changes Training Site.

Tommy Farr who trained for every other American fight in the healthy and expensive air of Pompton Lakes, N. J., in training for his meeting with Red Burman at Stillman's gym which is as snooty as the stockyards and as private as a park bench.

Minnesota and Illinois boosted Big Ten basketball stock sky high in the Garden the other night by whipping New York U. and Manhattan . . . The Yankees have three prospects—in addition to Outfielder Tom Henrich—for Lou Gehrig's first base post, when and if the great man knocks off . . . One is Eddie Levy who is to play first at Newark, another is Johnny Sturm coming to Kansas City to replace Harry Davis who is on the market, and the third is Fred Collins, a converted left handed pitcher . . . If tradition means anything Collins should be the best bet . . . Gehrig and the great George Sisler were left handed hurlers before they went straight. . . .

Latest story on Zeke Bonura the Giants new first baseman is that Zeke, after a tryout with Cleveland, wanted to take some presents home for his kid brother . . . Lefty Weisman the Indians' trainer, suggested balloons . . . "How'm I gonna get 'em in a suitcase," inquired Zeke? . . . 'They won't fit" . . .

The Cincinnati Reds who fostered night baseball in the majors will make no effort to increase their quota of night games . . . On the theory under which restaurants recommend their patrons do not eat too much grub as the results aren't as satisfactory as when the delectables are taken in the proper quantities . . .

Vinnie Richards the old "Boy Wonder" of the tennis courts doesn't think Don Budge will be able to lick Elly Vines consistently if "Vines really wants to play tennis" . . . He even thinks Vines is better than Tilden when the lanky Californian is at the top of his game. . . . Eric Tipton's punts may prove a boomerang against Southern Cal . . . When the Duke star kicker kicked against Pitt, Dick Cassiano, the Panther safety man, had orders to play the ball safe and let it roll . . . Greenville Lansdell, the Trojan safety, is a whiz in an open field and Duke's ends will have an interesting afternoon unless Tipton keeps that ball near the sidelines.

Giants Appear Weaker

New York May Tumble as Low as 5th Place If Hub, Hal Fail to Deliver.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Many uncomplimentary things have been said and written about Boss Bill Terry of the Giants in the last few seasons, but from here on no man will ever accuse Bill of not being a gambler. At least, it will have to be admitted that Terry is willing to play them high, wide and handsome as long as another supplies the blue chips.

Horace Stoneham, youthful president of the Giants, is buying the chips, and he has good reason to believe in Terry's judgment. Still after looking over the list of 30 players who have been mailed 1939 contracts by the Giants, here's one bet that Stoneham is more uneasy than he looks.

No Margin of Safety.

If Terry has guessed wrong, and unless he gets more breaks than the law allows, the Giants are likely as not to tumble as far down as fifth place in the next National league race. They have absolutely no margin of safety.

First, Terry is staking the works on the recovery of his two key pitchers, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, from operations on their salary arms last fall. There is no guarantee that either will be back with anything like his former ability, and the odds are prohibitive against both making the grade.

That may leave Terry with one top-notch starting pitcher, Cliff Melton, and Cliff was no ball of fire last year. The mound staff has only one new man, Manuel Salvo, who won 22 games for San Diego last season. He can't be counted upon to do that in the National league.

Next, Terry is looking to Burgess Whitehead to return after a year's convalescence from an operation and play second base like he used to. Maybe he will, but many baseball men doubt it. If he doesn't, Alex Kampouris will have to take over the job, and Alex couldn't satisfy Terry last year.

Bonura Is Gamble.

The biggest gamble of all is on Zeke Bonura's ability to play first base acceptably. The Giants got the big New Orleans boy from Washington after he had been waived out of the American league. It seems impossible that eight American league managers could have been completely mistaken.

Ol' Man Mose Leads Hurlers

Red Sox Veteran Cracks Two Records.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, who was throwing his smoke ball when many of us still were learning he alphabet, today was acclaimed the American league's leading pitcher of 1938.

Final official averages showed that "Ol' Man Mose" of the Boston Red Sox, despite his 38 years and a sore arm that forced him out of action late in the season, cracked two all-time major league records as he topped the flingers of his circuit for the eighth time.

He had the lowest earned run average, 3.07, making his eighth year as leader in this department, and the high won and lost percentage of .778 for the fifth time as leader in this department. He pitched 14 victories and four defeats.

Neither of Grove's marks approached season records however. With the batsmen in command all season his .778 was far below the record of .938 set by Johnny Allen of Cleveland in 1937 with 15 victories and one defeat. His 3.07 earned run per game average was not nearly as good as the 2.33 set by Lefty Gomez of the Yankees in 1937.

The Yankees registered the best club pitching with an earned run average of 3.92. Charley (Red) Ruffing helped to raise by finishing second to Grove with 15 while Gomez was third with 13. Ruffing won 21 games and lost 7 for a percentage of .750 while Gomez won 18 and lost 12 for .600.

1938 The Year In Sports

Turf

By DILLON GRAHAM

NEW YORK —(AP)— Seabiscuit, the Cinderella horse, wrote the year's most dramatic turf story with his sparkling victory over War Admiral.

The one - time selling plater trounced the aristocratic son of Man o' War by three lengths in one of the greatest match races of modern times, a mile and three-sixteenths around the historic Pimlico track.

The Charles S Howard thoroughbred set a new track record of 1:56 3/5, won $15,000 and galloped into second place among the world's leading money - winning horses. Only Sun Beau, with $376,744, stands ahead of Seabiscuit, with $340,480. The triumph also brought the 'Biscuit ranking as the horse-of-the-year in a sports writers' poll.

Seldom have 3-year-old division honors been as jumbled as this year Maxwell Howard's Stagehand was voted the top horse in a season that saw different thoroughbreds win the three major races.

Why Stagehand Won.

Dauber took the Preakness and ran second in the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes. Lawrin, winner of the Derby as well as the $50,000 Florida Hollywood stake, and Pasteurized, Belmont victor, were not eligible for the other races.

Stagehand's winter victories in Santa Anita's $100,000 handicap and $50,000 derby established him as the Kentucky Derby favorite. However, illness forced him to be scratched on the eve of the classic. His victories in the west and his string of eastern triumphs in the fall made him the leading money-winner of the year with $189,710 and brought him top 3-year-old recognition.

William Ziegler, jr.'s El Chico was the outstanding 2-year-old. He won seven straight races and was the biggest money - winner, wtih $84,100.

Johnny Longden, veteran Canadian rider, had a slight edge over Johnny Adams of Iola, Kans., as the year's No. 1 jockey. Hirsch Jacobs again was the leading trainer. Maxwell Howard was the biggest money - winning owner with $226,495.

Seabiscuit and War Admiral were finally brought together for their long-awaited duel after several previous efforts had failed. They were scheduled to race at Belmont on Decoration day for $100,000 but the 'Biscuit developed a sore leg.

The 'Biscuit got the jump on the usually fast-breaking Admiral, repulsed a back-stretch challenge by the handsome son of Man o' War and won handily from the fast-tiring Sam Riddle entry.

The defeat was only the second in two years for War Admiral, who later won the Rhode Island handicap at Narragansett. He had won the Widener Challenge cup at Hialeah last spring.

Seabiscuit Lost, Too.

Seabiscuit, generally carrying top weights, also was beaten several times, his most-costly defeat being a nose decision to Stagehand in the rich Santa Anita handicap.

SEABISCUIT

Battleship, a son of Man o' War, became the first American-owned ridden and bred horse to win England's Grand National steeplechase.

Porter's Mite set a world record of 1:14.4 for six and one-half furlongs in Belmont's Champagne stakes. Galley Slave, a 2-year-old filly, established a world mark of 32 4/5 seconds for three furlongs at Santa Anita. Porter's Mite also won the Belmont Futurity.

Death claimed Equipoise, one of the top money - winners of all time, and Bubbling Over, 1926 Kentucky Derby winner.

The First Lutherans, 1937-38 champions, dropped their first decision of the season in the Class A Church league at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The Lutherans were tumbled by a 20 to 17 score by First M. E., and the victory enabled the Methodists to retain a share of first place with the Mayflower Congregationals.

The game was played under protest by the Lutherans, who accused the Methodists of using an ineligible player. The protest committee will consider the matter this week, Don Cram, Y physical director, said today.

The Lutherans and Methodists waged a thrilling battle in their meeting. The first period ended 3-3, the half closed 7-7 and the Methodists held only a two-point advantage going into the final quarter.

Led by Miles, who tallied 15 points, Mayflower kept its string intact by overtaking Central M. E. in the third period to win a 30 to 21 decision. The Congregationals trailed at the end of the opening quarter, but they held their foe to one point in the next frame to go ahead 14 to 9 at the half. They held this lead the rest of the way.

Temple Emanuel and Park Avenue Baptists quintets won their first games of the season last night. Feld led the Temple to a 24 to 14 victory over Episcopal and Harper led the scoring as the Baptists edged St. John, 26 to 24, Kaseros tallying 11 points for the losers.

The Baptists held the lead all the way, but were forced to stave off a dangerous rally in the final period to collect the victory.

Rams to Play One Game on Road Trip

The number of games the Madison high school cagers will play on their tour to southern Ohio was reduced to one today when a cancellation by Logan was received, Coach Al Fendrick stated today.

Attempts to book another school to replace Logan have met with failure, he said.

The Rams' only game will be against McArthur Saturday night. Fendrick and a squad of only six players will leave for McArthur at 11 a. m. on Saturday and return immediately after the game.

Allen's 'Ailing' Arm May Undergo Knife

CLEVELAND—(UP)— Whether to operate on the biggest "Question Mark" on the Cleveland Indians baseball club—Pitcher Johnny Allen's famed hurling arm—will be decided Monday.

Allen arrived in Cleveland Wednesday to consult with the Cleveland clinic specialist who examined the ailing arm last summer. If the specialist who returns to the city next Sunday advises an operation, it may be performed Tuesday, Allen intimated.

The big righthander said the arm had not bothered him since close of the last baseball season.

OHIO STATE TOURISTS FACE CALIFORNIA FIVE

Grade School Finals Friday

Undefeated Bowman Club Moves Up on Forfeit.

West Fifth was scheduled to meet Carpenter at 2 p. m. and Bowman was billed against Bushnell an hour later in today's semi-final games in the Grade School basketball tournament at the Y. M. C. A.

The winners of these two games will clash in the championship finals at 3 p. m. Friday, with the losers colliding in the consolations finals an hour earlier.

Bowman, which leads the Grade school league without a defeat, won on a forfeit from Prospect, while West Fifth edged Hedges, 11 to 8, on Bruckler's two baskets in the last minute and Bushnell, led by Brooks' 17 points, won over Woodland, 19 to 17.

RED BIRDS PICK SITE

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Columbus Red Birds will train at Winter Haven, Fla., next spring.

All-Star Players Selected

Nine Chosen to Oppose Frosh Stars Friday.

THE City Class A league will place a basketball team on the court against the Ohio college freshmen at Mansfield high school Friday night that appears capable of holding its own against almost any kind of competition.

A team consisting of the nine outstanding players in the circuit has been selected by coaches to oppose the frosh stars in the game scheduled at 7 p. m.

Sports Furnish Three.

The pace-setting Yuncker Sports, who are undefeated, will be represented by Al Stickler, Freddy Lewis and Harold Hayfer. Stickler and Hayfer have been outstanding players in the league for several years. Lewis has played in the league since graduating from Mansfield high in mid-season this year.

Stickler and Lewis are former Tyger stars, while Hayfer was prominent in basketball at the Ohio College of Chiropody of Cleveland.

Delnore Goldsmith, former Galion high star, and Gene Brandon, another former Mansfield high performer, will represent the Herrick Hi-Speeds. Goldsmith played the outfield for the Tiffin Ohio State league club for several years.

Howard Poole, one of the best ball handlers ever developed at Mansfield high by Coach Russ Murphy, and Bob Shade have been selected from the Westinghouse team. Shade has played in the league for many years.

Tom Farrell, who formerly played with the House of David quintet, and Johnny Minor, late of Toronto high, are members of the Elks team selected for the all-star club.

Played In A. A. U.

Farrell, who has been one of the outstanding players in the league for several years, performed with the Dominion Electric quintet of Minneapolis in the national A. A. U. finals in Kansas City several years ago.

The college freshman team's lineup will include former Mansfield high stars now in college, in addition to other college frosh aces.

Oils Offered Chance To End Cues' Streak.

Augustine's Canfield Oils are offered the chance tonight to blast the Rex Billiards' winning streak in the Senior A league at the Friendly House. The Billiards, who are undefeated in four games, and Oils meet in the middle game at 7:45.

The Raemelton Farms and Miller Dairys collide in the first game, with a meeting between the Musille Cigars and Blue Goose Sohioans closing the program.

GAINS UNDISPUTED LEAD

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The jinx that keeps the Cleveland Barons from beating the Syracuse Stars still held today, although last night's scoreless tie between the two teams gave the Barons undisputed first place in the International-American Hockey league.

Duke Expected To Take To Air

All But Two of Touchdowns Scored Against Trojans This Season Came on Passes.

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP)—The unknown quantity in the Rose Bowl football equation is Duke's offensive plans for Southern California Jan. 2.

But a good guess, based on Coach Wallace Wade's record, is, "passes."

Copious copy has been written about the defensive ability of the unscored-upon Blue Devils. Much has been mentioned about the stingy defensive attitude of Coach Howard Jones' U. S. C. team.

And the word has been bandied around freely by Troy's supporters how with speed, power and deception they will do this and that with running plays and passes.

Strangely, none has had much to say about Duke's scoring.

Naturally the Duke contingent hasn't brought up the subject, except to bemoan the fact George McAfee, fastest man on the squad, has been handicapped by a foot injury and still isn't in good shape.

In fact, the only positive outward display of scoring ability has been the field goal kicking of Tony Ruffa, a third string guard who boots the ball with accuracy as far back as the 40-yard line.

It isn't illogical to suppose Coach Wade would like to have the Trojans believe his team is something of a scoreless wonder and that Ruffa is Duke's best bet.

Eric Tipton, whose punting prowess is legend, is supposed to be the best pass thrower Duke has. Tipton's throwing during the open practice sessions here was far from sensational and this could have been by design. For Duke completed 29 of its 74 attempts during the regular season and had only four of the others intercepted.

These figures become more important when you realize all but two of the touchdowns scored on Southern California this season came from passes.

To be sure, there might be an entire lack of offensive power in the Duke makeup, but if this is true the Blue Devils will be the first Wade-coached Rose Bowl team to find itself in this predicament.

Eye Ulcer May Keep Aldrich on Bench.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(AP)—The Sugar Bowl sports carnival swung into full stride today with the start of the annual tennis tournament, increased argument over the merits of those football opponents—Texas Christian and Carnegie Tech—and the postmortems on Purdue's 57-51 basketball victory over Arkansas.

Aspirations of the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian dwindled as news was awaited on the conditions of Ki Aldrich, All-America center who has an eye ulcer that may force him to remain on the bench.

Last night's basketball game between Arkansas, Southwestern conference champion, and Purdue, Big Ten leader, was a thriller throughout. Arkansas got the score to 51-49 with two minutes to play but the Boilermakers pulled away with three quick goals.

Dr. Webb Walker, specialist who is treating Aldrich's eye, said the ulcer was "definitely serious" but that Aldrich had an "even chance" to play Monday.

Raring to go against the Trojans of Southern California in the annual Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 2, these Duke gridders pose for a picture in their hotel room in Pasadena. The silk panties sent them seems to be the object of their attention at the moment. Said Eric Tipton, Duke captain, of the panties: "If we lose and the panties fit, I'll wear them back home." Players shown in the picture are, left to right, Elwin Holmes, Frank Ribar, Jap Davis, George McAfee, Dink Darnell, Wes McAfee and Jim Marion. Most experts picked Southern California to win.

DOUBLE-HEADER ON BILL AT PUBLIC HALL FRIDAY

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)— Practice tosses bombarded baskets in gyms at Western Reserve and Baldwin-Wallace today as cagemen limbered limbs in preparation for another of the big college double-headers at Public hall tomorrow night.

The fleet Reserve basketboys will meet the scrappy five of the University of Indiana, and the Baldwin-Wallace Yellow Jackets will engage Cornell. Both Reserve and Indiana will go into the game with a record of five straight victories.

Coaches O. K. Football Code

But Consider Suggestions at Next Meeting.

CHICAGO — (INS) — The college football rulebook as it now stands today carried the general endorsement of the nation's gridiron coaches.

They put a stamp of approval on it at their annual meeting in Chicago yesterday, but with the air of having to accomplish something advised six minor changes.

The suggestions were passed on to the rules committee which meets in Colorado Springs, Colo., next week. The coaches agreed to experiment in the coming year on another possible revision.

As far as the public goes, only one of the changes recommended would matter, and that would be barely noticeable save in outstanding cases.

It has to do with the downing of a punt, which now is a technical foul. A speedy end who rushes down the field and falls on the bounding ball back near the goal line sometimes finds his efforts nullified by an alert opponent who commits another foul of some minor nature.

As the rule now stands the two fouls counteract each other and the play is called over. It was advised the word "foul" be deleted for downing a punt and thus increase the effectiveness of this offensive weapon.

Of major importance to the safety of thousands of players, however, was a recommendation for a thorough study of football equipment and demands that present specifications be strictly adhered to.

PLANES, RAILS SWING TO NEW HIGHS FOR YEAR

Great Northern, Glenn Martin and Bendix Hit '38 Peaks; Commodities Improve.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Aircrafts and rails led the stock market on another forward swing today, a number making new highs for the year with gains running to 2 points or more.

Cash sales for income tax purposes were numerous, but these apparently were absorbed without great difficulty.

Glenn Martin, Bendix and Great Northern were among those touching new 1938 peaks. Prominent on the push were Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Boeing, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Montgomery Ward.

Carrier bonds titled higher and commodities displayed moderate improvement.

Propping motor shares were forecasts the forthcoming quarter would be an excellent one for the manufacturers in both production and sales and latest figures indicated that, despite bad weather, December car distribution would be about 30 per cent ahead of the same 1937 month.

Renewed attention was given motion picture stocks on reports current earnings in this field were showing a substantial rising trend.

With heavy steel orders and inquiries continuing in comparatively good volume, mill operations next week were expected to rebound to around 50 per cent of capacity.

NEW ZERO WAVE HEADS FOR CITY

'Second Section' of Frigid Blast Due Tomorrow or Saturday.

two above zero, the lowest mark of the year.

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd, in Chicago, warned that the "second section" of the cold would prove even more bitter and harder to bear than the first because the atmosphere has already been chilled and cannot temper the polar mass.

While temperatures rose during the brief respite in the middle west and great plains regions yesterday, the east and south felt the sting of the frigid storm as it whiplashed across the continent.

And as if the cold wasn't enough, the first earthquake in months shook Helena, Mon., for three seconds, rattling dishes and causing apprehension but no damage.

Ushering in the second attack of bitter weather were predictions of widespread snow. The snow may be exhausted by the time it passes the north central region, weathermen said.

There was, however, no outlook that the cold would be sidetracked before it again lays its icy hold all the way to the sea.

SCOURS HILLS

Kentucky Posse Hunts Bank Bandits With $5,000 Loot.

FREEBURN, Ky.—(U.P.)—A sheriff's posse including 15 deputies and 25 citizens armed with machine guns, shotguns, rifles and pistols, scoured the wooded hillsides of this mountainous country today in search of bandits who robbed the Merchants' and Miners' bank of more than $5000.

Two bloodhounds guided the posse in its search.

Sheriff Earl Scott said he believed the posse was nearing its quarry after a hunt that began shortly after the robbery yesterday.

When the bloodhounds took up the trial early today they led the posse to a spring where Sheriff Scott said one of the bandits had shaved. Nearby was a pocketbook, apparently dropped in flight, which contained the pictures of two girls.

LIQUOR SALES PETITIONS O. K.

Legislators Would Permit Clubs, Hotels Sell Packaged Goods.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy today approved the synopsis of proposed legislation to permit restaurants, night clubs and hotels which sell liquor by the glass to handle retail sales by the bottle and obtain liquor from state stores at a discount.

State Rep. Walter Becker (D-Hamilton) prepared the proposal in the form of an initiative petition which can not be presented to the legislature before the 1941-42 session. Seventy-five thousand signatures also must be obtained by the sponsors before it could be considered by the legislature.

BRENDA SENT TO BED WITH COLD

No. 1 'Glamor Girl' Deb Ill After All-Night Ball.

NEW YORK —(AP)— If Brenda Frazier tried to describe herself today, it would be "glabber girl."

The cold she snubbed to appear at her spectacular all-night debutante ball Tuesday night boomeranged, and physicians ordered the season's No. 1 "glamor girl" deb to bed for a week.

Fatigued by standing in the receiving line for nearly three hours to greet 1,200 guests, the 18-year-old heiress to a $5,000,000 grain fortune today developed an aggravated case of grippe.

SENT TO JAIL IN RELIEF CASE

Mother of Four, Convicted of 'Chiseling,' Begins 10-Day Sentence.

Mrs. Edith Jacobs, 86 East Fourth street, found guilty in municipal court last week on a charge of misrepresentation in her application for relief, today began a 10-day sentence in county jail.

Mrs. Jacobs was taken to jail yesterday after Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch gave her a 60-day sentence and then suspended 50 days and the costs in the case.

Judge Kalbfleisch had deferred sentence lost week in order to allow the woman to spend Christmas with her four children who are being kept in a private home through arrangements made by probate court.

The case was the first prosecuted in Mansfield under Ohio's revised relief laws that requires that a relief client appear before a notary public and make a financial statement quarterly concerning any change of status in their case.

Mrs. Jacobs was arrested on a warrant filed by Mrs. Agatha Leonard, relief investigator, who charged that the woman presented a false statement in applying for relief on Aug. 26 and again on Nov. 23.

Mrs. Jacobs told the court she made the false statement after her life was threatened by her husband who was on a leave of absence from the Toledo state hospital. Jacobs was returned to the institution on a probate court order two weeks ago.

heights beyond Tremp in the north coincided with the war's greatest aerial fight, in which 24 Insurgent planes won an apparent victory over 61 government fighters, shooting down a score, it was said.

After a night punctuated with sporadic fire and lighted by star shells in a reproduction of World war scenes, the battle along the 50-mile Catalonian front was resumed at daybreak when mortars started pounding.

Italian-made tanks led an attack at Cogull, where the Insurgents have been unable to hammer a way through the line to Borjas Blancas. Two attacking tanks were destroyed with hand grenades, government advices said, but the battle was still proceeding with enormous violence.

START $17,000 SEWER PROJECT

80 Workers on Job as WPA Resumes Construction Operations Here.

Work on a $17,000 storm sewer project in southeast Mansfield, started by 80 WPA workmen today, marked the re-opening of WPA construction in the city for the first time in nearly a month.

For the first time since the Works Progress Administration came into existence more than three years ago Mansfield had been without a single WPA construction project since the completion of the Woodland water project late in November.

A. N. Moellenkamp, general WPA project supervisor, said today that the 80 workmen transferred from the Pulver-List county WPA road project would be supplemented early next week with another crew of 45 workmen which will boost the total on the job to 125.

With a full crew on the project, he said, the job which includes the laying of nearly one mile of various size sewers is expected to be completed within eight weeks.

The project calls for the construction of the sewers on Arch street west to Jeanette, south on Jeanette to Greenlawn to Cleveland avenue and west of Clevelond to Hedges street, and on Scholl road to the western end of Shepherd road

Of the total cost, WPA will contribute approximately $11,000 in labor, while the city's share of $6,000 for materials is to be paid from general bonds issued for the purpose several months ago by city council.

FINANCES BIG PROBLEM FOR NEW ASSEMBLY

Millions More Required for Carrying on State, Local Governments, Schools.

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of three stories on problems confronting the new legislature, meeting here Jan. 2.)

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS—How to obtain many millions of dollars to aid in financing state, schools and local government operations is the chief problem confronting the 93rd General Assembly which convenes Jan. 2.

When the law-makers have accomplished that task they may well consider their worries over. They probably could go home without passing another law and the state would run along smoothly for the next two years at least.

$40,000,000 Needed?

Just how many additional million dollars will have to be provided few will venture a guess. Some have estimated it as high as $40,000,000. Others contend that estimate is many millions too high.

The two most pressing financial needs are for schools and relief. (The school foundation program deficit has been estimated by the department of education at $17,000,000. An additional $5,000,000 has been estimated as required to finance current school operations and prevent any growth in the deficit.

Relief expenditures last year were around $25,000,000. Of this amount the state contributed $19,000,000 either directly from its own funds or from funds which it collected and turned over to local sub-divisions. Funds raised from purely local sources totaled $6,000,000.

Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker, who takes office Jan. 9, has declared every effort shall be made to work out these financial problems without resort to additional tax levies. He insists it can be done through proper economies and adequate enforcement of present tax laws.

Bricker and many of the Republican legislative leaders believe that the sales tax can be so administered as to yield many more millions of dollars annually To bring this about is expected to be one of their first major efforts

Republicans also are determined to find the answer, if possible to this question: Why California with fewer residents than Ohio collects from a lower sales tax twice as much annually as Ohio?

Straight 3 Per Cent.

California's sales tax is a straight three per cent on retail sales while the Ohio tax is bracketed in such a manner that as much as 10 per cent is collected on a 10-cent purchase.

Carlton S. Dargusch, former chairman of the Ohio tax commission in charge of sales tax enforcement, contends that the difference in productivity of the California and Ohio sales taxes is that Ohio has so many more exemptions than California

A comparison of the Ohio and California laws, however, showed considerable similarity in their exemptions. Both states have the same food exemptions and both exempt gasoline The California tax applies to cigarets while they are exempted in Ohio. Ohio however, collects a special cigaret tax which on a 15-cent pack amounts to 13⅓ per cent, to raise about $8,000,000 a year. On the same basis of sales, the California sales tax would raise less than $2,000,000 a year on cigarets.

Unless liquor revenues pick up sharply, the legislature probably will have to find some additional means for financing old age pensions. Bricker however, is of the opinion that liquor revenues can be augmented sufficiently to finance the pensions through more rigid enforcement of the liquor laws This he hopes to bring about

AUGUST 1938: Battle Fought For a Hill; Europe's Jitters Increase

By VOLTA TORREY
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Chapter 8 Of a Month-by-Month Review Of 1938

A CONCEALED as well as undeclared war had simmered between Russia and Manchoukuo. Just where the boundary lay, geographers could not say. And in August, 1938, so many bombs burst on a hill called Changkufeng, near that uncertain frontier's eastern end, that the whole world worried, and wondered. . . .

Was Russia, China's friend, diverting Japan from the war in China? Or was Japan, Germany's friend, distracting Russia from the crisis in Czechoslovakia?

Few could say. But Tokyo and Moscow diplomats compared maps, ordered an armistice, and agreed to let a commission draw the line between Russia and Manchoukuo

War Dog Days.

August 15 was expected to be "Der Tag" in Europe It wasn't. But the build-up continued Hungary's kingfish, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, went to Germany to study goose-stepping. Bulgaria's King Boris got his neighbor's permission to re-arm. Spain's Insurgent President Franco scuttled the non-interventionists' plans. Germans marched as to war, and ousted a British passport officer from Vienna for espionage.

Moscow flyers feted "Lindy." Germany's big landplane crossed the Atlantic. The Hawaii Clipper, with 15 aboard, was missing in the Pacific. Frank Hawks died in a crash near Buffalo. Dan Dodge, million-heir bridegroom of a phone girl, drowned after mishandling dynamite.

Another Element.

French Chemist Jean Perin reported discovery of a 93rd element. Oriental dysentery invaded Owosso, Mich. Women voyagers through Colorado river rapids brought back new kinds of cacti. And the Queen Mary set a trans-Atlantic speed record.

New York's District Attorney Dewey, prosecuting James J. Hines, publicized "policy." Barbara Carroll of Maine posed for photographers covering her father's trial for murder. Charles Bird, ex-Public Enemy No. 2, was caught in Baltimore. And the alleged "baking to death" of four Pennsylvania prisoners was probed.

Father Divine's "angels" moved to a new "heaven" near Franklin D. Roosevelt's Hyde Park place. Senators Alben W. Barkley, Bennett Champ Clark and Ellison D. Smith were among the many moving into election finals, and those who were beaten in preliminary polling included Senators James P. Pope and William G. McAdoo.

The Harlan County, Ky., labor conspiracy trial's jury couldn't agree. The Dies inquiry came to the fore, with J. B. Matthews introducing alleged Communist "fellow travelers" and suggesting that reds might even be hiding behind Shirley Temple's swirling skirts.

Norma Shearer decided not to be "Scarlet O'Hara." Warner Oland died. Lupe Velez divorced Johnny Weissmuller. And radio listeners dialed in on "Information Please."

McADOO LOSES . . . and collects a souvenir from his senate office door.

BARKLEY WINS . . and proves he could qualify for 'Happy' nickname of opponent Chandler.

SEPTEMBER 1938: Czechoslovakia Pays Bill For European Peace Party

IN ENGLAND . . . Chamberlain shows off German friendship agreement upon return from four power conference.

IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA . . . Hitler triumphantly enters the Sudeten area on the heels of his army.

By VOLTA TORREY
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Out of this nettle, danger, we plucked this flower, safety." Thus Neville Chamberlain summarized September's sorry story.

Repeatedly the British prime minister flew to Germany. Resolutely the Nazis asked for more and more. Resignedly the old world mobilized

Chapter 9 Of a Month-by-Month Review Of 1938

Bomb shelters were dug in London parks France's Maginot Line was manned. German ships were called home

Politics—Maine went Republican—was shoved off Page One. Swingsters—purring "A-Tisket, A-Tasket"—were hushed for scary speeches It took a hurricane to compete with Europe's eruption.

'Heil Hitler!'

The issue was simple Could Reichsfuehrer Hitler help himself to a chunk of Czechoslovakia? Both sides drew their guns. Propagandists spouted atrocity stories France and Russia had promised to help the courageous Czechs. Britain supposedly stood behind France. But Hitler could—and did—"free" the Germanic peoples of Czechoslovakia

Twice President Roosevelt pleaded for peace. Chamberlain, Hitler, French Premier Daladier and Italy's Il Duce went into a jam session Then Chamberlain flew home with a bit of paper, and boasted he had preserved "peace with honor"

Czechoslovakia paid for it. At midnight, Sept. 30. Germans goose-stepped into the little democracy, and Poland and Hungary yipped for their shares.

Der Fuehrer disclaimed further European territorial aims. But jokers said: "Have you heard the latest? Hitler just gave the world 24 hours to get out."

A Nazi putsch in Chile that same September, cost three score lives and failed America ordered foreign government's agents to register England's queen launched the world's biggest liner, the Queen Elizabeth.

The Hurricane.

New England, meanwhile, was flayed astonishingly by a tropical hurricane gone haywire. When communications were restored the nation heard the death toll was 700, the damage $100,000,000 and headlines blurted. Long Island Resort Towns Wiped Out; 12 Feet of Water in Providence, Liners Delayed, Yachts Destroyed Millions of Trees Down, Food Shortages and Fires in Many Areas Sightseers Barred; Red Cross Seeks Funds. Federal agencies dashed to the rescue and began weeks of rehabilitation work.

Two tornadoes ripped into historic Charleston, S. C., killing 26. But not all weather news was bad: Rains so cheered western farmers that Springfield, Colo., the dust bowl's "capital," held a county fair for the first time since 1930.

American Autumn.

A fourth of the American people went back to school in September. Fifteen thousand attended the American Legion's convention in Los Angeles. And 200,000 filed through St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York to mourn Cardinal Hayes.

Jimmy Roosevelt underwent an operation. Senators Walter F. George and Millard E. Tydings, scheduled for "purging," were among those renominated. The sensational Hines case in New York ended in a mistrial. The $30,-Thursday pot boiled in California.

And Broadway's business barometer—the number of musical shows in rehearsal—went up.

HOME DAMAGED

ASHLAND—Part of the attic and roof of the house of H. G. Deever on East Seventh street here were destroyed when a fire of undetermined origin broke out.

The fire, which caused damage to the structure and household goods was extinguished by Ashland firemen who answered the call with two trucks.

To Get the Best Cough Remedy, Mix It at Home

Real Relief. Big Saving So Easy. No Cooking.

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because it makes such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs that start from colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough remedy, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving you delightful relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

FIRST FEDERAL SOIL PAYMENTS DUE NEXT WEEK

1,200 Farmers in County Who Participated in Program Eligible for Checks.

The first federal soil conservation checks for Richland county farmers who participated in the federal crop program this year probably will be received during the first week in January, attaches of the county conservation office said today.

Farmers in 11 of the county's 18 townships signed applications for their checks yesterday, and approximately 400 of the applications were ready to forward today to the state conservation office at Columbus.

Payment is usually made in a week or 10 days after applications are submitted, it was pointed out.

400 Fail to Qualify.

About 1,200 of the 1,600 county farmers who participated in the program this year will be eligible for payments, it was said. The remaining 400 failed to reduce their acreage of crops or otherwise comply with the government requirements and did not qualify for federal payments.

Individual payments, which range from $2 to more than $200, are expected to be slightly under the $88,000 county farmers got last year for slashing their crop acreage.

Payments will be made this year for the diversion of land from soil-depleting crops to soil-building crops and for the use of fertilizer, lime and other soil-improvement materials.

Administration of the county program is under a committee headed by Guy Taylor of Washington township. County headquarters were moved this week from East Third street to 68½ North Diamond street, between Third and Fourth streets.

County Added 20 Gas Stations In '38, Report Shows

Richland county has 20 more gasoline filling stations this year than in 1937, but the gasoline pumps are more accurate and the motorist stands less chance of receiving skimpy measure, the annual report of Harry K. Koch, county deputy sealer of weights and measures, showed today.

Koch's report listed 581 gasoline pumps this year as against 561 in 1937. Only two pumps were condemned during the past year, however, as compared with eight in 1937. Koch ordered adjustments on 90 of them this year.

A total of 2,216 weighing and measuring devices was inspected during the year by Koch, who conducts his inspections under the supervision of County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, official county sealer of weights and measures.

The report listed 600 scales in the county, including 80 wagon and truck scales, 148 counter scales and 96 platform scales. Adjustments were ordered on 20 sets of counter scales.

GET INSTRUCTION

School Bus Drivers to Receive Course in First Aid.

Seventy-three drivers of rural and centralized school buses in Richland county were being organized into classes today for instruction in first aid, in compliances with a recent ruling of the state department of education that all such drivers must have Red Cross first aid training. Twelve substitutes also must take the course in order to comply with the requirements.

Harker A. Enlow, director of first aid for the Richland County chapter of the Red Cross, said that bus drivers for five schools already have been organized into classes and instructions will begin next week. They are from Ontario, Lexington, Bellville, Butler and Lucas.

The four remaining centralized schools, Madison high, Plymouth, Shiloh and Weller, will be organized early in January. The new ruling requires that all county school bus drivers must have a standard Red Cross course for administering emergency first aid in case of an accident.

The classes also will be open to teachers who wish to take the course, Enlow said.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1938.

A New Year resolution should be handled with care—few things are more fragile.

An eastern educator suggests that arithmetic be dropped from the common schools—apparently capitulating to the New Deal trend.

It is announced that a gadget has been provided to regulate speed of cars from the back seat—but she may object to being called a gadget.

Warns Visitors to Be Careful.

OVER on the other side of this page, in his Man About Manhattan chat, George Tucker tells some of the things that visitors in New York City should be on the lookout for, in order to minimize chances of being robbed or swindled.

The suggestions are good, whether it is New York or some other city that is being visited—or even if it is only a small town in which you are making a stopover.

To the suggestions offered in the Tucker article may be added a warning to motorists to make sure that their car is securely locked when they leave it parked anywhere, and to leave nothing of value in the dash compartment, even when the car is locked. On any trip, overnight parking in a garage is preferable to street or yard parking, and the small additional cost is more than offset by the feeling of security against theft.

Use of travelers' checks and a gasoline credit card is also recommended for long motor trips, to avoid carrying a large amount of money. Bills of large denomination should never be tendered at roadside filling stations, tourist homes, or small business places. Hitch-hikers should never be picked up during a long or short trip—the chances are too great to justify this practice.

Motorists who observe reasonable rules of carefulness along these lines will avoid many unpleasant and costly experiences.

Would Improve Teachers' Colleges.

WHILE public interest has long been evidenced in providing free education for all children in the United States, it appears that too little attention has been paid to the education of teachers.

In any event, an assertion on this subject, made in a review of the activities of a national educational foundation, merits thoughtful consideration:

"1. The preparation of teachers is the most important task of professional education.

"2. The teachers' college is the poorest of all departments of higher education."

With steadily mounting costs of maintaining schools and colleges there has been a possibly natural assumption of commensurate improvement in educational facilities and qualifications of teachers.

Occasional instances have appeared, of course, of individuals associated with educational institutions being unfitted for such responsibility, but there has been a popular belief that, in the main, teachers and other school officials have the education, training and character to fit them for their jobs.

It is naturally disconcerting, at times, to hear apparently well-authenticated reports of the infiltration of communistic doctrinaires into American schools and colleges, but this has heretofore been rather casually accepted as indicative of the broad tolerance prevalent in this country.

Should it appear, however, that invasion of American educational institutions is a deliberately planned phase of alien propaganda some more determined approach to the problem of assuring American education for American youth may become advisable.

Schooling for every child is important—but assurance of right schooling is even more important.

Another One-Newspaper City.

SUSPENSION of the South Bend (Ind.) News-Times marks another step in the direction of good-sized cities being served by one newspaper, a tendency which has been much in evidence in Ohio within the past few years.

South Bend (home of Notre Dame university) is slightly above 100,000 in population, and that city's newspaper also serves the adjoining city of Mishawaka, with a population of 30,000 but without a newspaper of its own.

Increased costs of material and wages, and a decrease in advertising volume, were given as reasons for suspension of the News-Times.

Noting suspensions and consolidations of newspapers in such Ohio cities as Toledo, Youngstown, Akron and Canton, and taking into account that similar conditions extend to other states, it becomes quite obvious that costs now involved in producing a creditable daily newspaper are quite different from the earlier period in which even small county seat towns had two newspapers, each eking out a precarious existence as a political party organ.

The Part That Conscience Plays.

CONSCIENCE FUNDS are not new, they have been going on for years- even for centuries.

Ever since conscience-stricken Judas went out and hanged himself, people who have done what they knew to be wrong have been tormented by conscience until they at least made an attempt, to the best of their ability, to repair the wrong-doing.

It was no surprise, therefore, to read that a Mansfield store received a letter containing four dollars in currency in payment for merchandise stolen several years ago. It is quite likely that many similar incidents go unrecorded.

What of those others who have knowledge of their own guilt of theft or some other offense against the law? An interesting, but possibly a pathetic human document might revolve around the tortures of conscience before decision is reached to try to right an earlier wrong.

Now that the Jesse James movie has been finished, it may be necessary to recall to some of the younger generation that Jesse is the one who had a horse.

It is a reluctant Chicago bridegroom who raises the question: "Am I legally married if the shotgun wasn't loaded?"

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—The Bureau of Indian Affairs only now is discovering what happens when an irresistible force meets the Navajo reservation.

Of all the tough pieces of Indian diet that the bureau has to bite off, the Navajo problem is one of the primest.

It must be kept in mind that the Navajos are a peculiar people. They don't move around much. At one time they were a wandering people but since the Spanish conquest they have been content to live a sort of sequestered life on the deserts of northern New Mexico. They have about 16,000,000 acres of land assigned to them but it is desert land providing scant fare even for the hungriest of sheep.

And more serious still, it is steadily being spoiled by erosion. Further, the Navajo population is increasing. Sixty years ago when they took on reservation life, there were perhaps 9,000 Navajos, as the Indian bureau records indicate. Now there are 50,000 and ethnologists predict that within the next generation or so the number will be double or even quadruple that.

* * *

Election Trouble.

BUT those are only major long time problems which will trouble future generations. More immediate problems are concerned with winning elections.

It was a year or more ago that the Indian bureau campaigned through the reservation in favor of the Indian reorganization bill. The bureau looked upon it as a godsend to the Indians, since it offered them increased self-government, further allotments of government cash, and other little benefactions.

On the Navajo reservation about 97 per cent of the population do not speak or write English and there are no adequate Indian phrases for explaining the reorganization bill. It was decided that Indians wanting to accept the reorganization act could sign with a cross and those opposing it could sign the ballot with a circle. But that was the end of the reorganization act.

Opponents of the measure, who looked upon it with suspicion regardless of its promised benefits, campaigned among the Indians. They didn't discuss the Indian bill. They discussed what a horrible thing it would be for the Indians to have anything to do with a cross. That is what the white men use to mark graves, the opposition leaders argued. They even have it on their churches. On the other hand, went the argument, the circle is the symbol of completion, of the full life, of the rightness of things.

* * *

Too Many Circles.

AND when election day came around there were more circles than crosses so the reorganization plan was defeated.

But that was not all. The bureau officials desired that new members of the Indian council to be elected should be at least open minded on the question of soil conservation. After all, the Navajo reservation is being rapidly washed away, even though there is scarcely a single year-round stream on it.

But again came the trouble of ballots. The Indians could not read. So the scheme was hit upon of having each candidate identified with a certain color. Philip Blue-Goose, friendly to the bureau plans, would be represented by a blue slip of paper at the ballot box. Other favorable candidates would be green, yellow or gray.

On the other hand, opposition candidates would be represented by other colors, such as red or purple. What happened?

Merits of the candidates were overlooked. Instead the Indians considered special merits of red (opposition) as distinguished from blue. By tough luck, all the favorite Indian colors were awarded to opposition candidates and the bureau candidates were defeated.

AND NOW, THE AFTER-CHRISTMAS "PACKAGE"

Another Alky-Gas Crusade Started

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Agitation for substitution of alcohol — in part—for gasoline, and thus providing a largely increased market for corn, is with us again, but is not likely to get anywhere.

On the surface, the idea is very appealing. Farmers could turn from other crops to corn, thus relieving not only the corn-hog surplus, but also the surplus in the other crops from which the farmers would turn to corn. It is easy to figure out, from department of agriculture figures, that virtually ALL the overproduction of farm crops in the country would thus be ended.

This would eliminate the $400,000,000 a year now being paid farmers NOT to raise specific crops. Aside from what this would do to the oil industry it sounds grand, but there is a catch in it.

According to the bureau of chemistry and soils, and this finding is supported by an impartial survey which is soon to be published in detail, the idea is not so sound economically after all.

In the first place, the survey establishes, to its own satisfaction, at least, that blending the proposed quantity of corn-produced alcohol with gasoline would make the cost of this mixture two cents a gallon more than gasoline. This, it is estimated, would cost $440,000,000 a year, which might be financed either by increasing the price of gasoline to consumers or by the government's subsidizing the whole move in the interest of agriculture.

Assuming the latter, the government would be only $40,000,000 in the red by the operation as compared with present farm subsidies. But that is only part of the picture. In the first place the government might have to come to the relief of the oil industry.

* * *

AGAIN, the idle capacity of the alcohol industry, which is about 350,000,000 gallons a year, is only one-tenth of what would be necessary to supply a 10 per cent blend of alcohol and gasoline for the motorists. So a capital investment of some $300,000,000 would be required to provide the necessary facilities.

Then it would seem likely that the motor-car and truck users of the nation would let out plenty of complaints if the proposed blend were forced on them by government fiat. A road test was conducted this year by the American Automobile association, in co-operation with the U. S. bureau of standards. This revealed that the proposed 10 per cent alcohol blend would be nearly five per cent less efficient than straight gasoline.

What the big trucking companies would have to say about this can be imagined, and it so happens that for some time they have been organized, politically, and needless to say would make their views known on Capitol Hill.

* * *

SINCE 1900, when some one first got on record with the often repeated prediction that our petroleum reserves are good for only five years, the oil industry hast watched five or six alky gas crusades come and go. Sold on its own merits, alky gas has never been regarded as competitive. It is the spectre of compulsory blending of alky gas with gasoline that makes the oil folk jittery.

As a matter of fact, many of the oil men admit that it is only a matter of time when some such blending proposal will be necessary —when straight gasoline will be off the market. This may be ten years hence and may be thirty years, but they figure it is coming.

However, they may be as wrong as the calamity howlers were about our coal reserves forty years ago, when they predicted we would burn all our coal in a short time. Now the coal industry is crying for a market.

Foot Troubles During Winter.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WE THINK of foot troubles as being mostly due to weight-bearing. Flatfoot is the comprehensive term for them. There are minor varieties of flatfoot. "March foot" is caused by over-fatigue of a weak foot and affects the base of the second, sometimes the third and fourth toes. Treatment includes proper shoes, support of weakened arches and graduated exercise. "Policeman's heel" may be due to pressure, arthritis or injury.

These troubles occur mostly in the mild weather, which makes up 10 months of our American year. They come on when we can get out and walk around freely and comfortably, and use and abuse our feet.

There are other troubles of the feet, however, peculiar to the winter season. Certain people are particularly sensitive to them, people who have rather rigid or unstable arteries. You know there are those so sensitive in this way that a plunge into cold water will contract the arteries of the extremities until they become quite white and useless, and fainting spells may come on. They have learned that they cannot go in swimming where the water is under 70 degrees.

Elderly Suffer Much.

Elderly people, because their arteries are no longer elastic, suffer much from the effects of cold and wet on winter streets. Heavy woolen socks and no constricting garters are worn by them.

Especially should diabetics avoid exposure of this kind. The diabetic's feet are a vulnerable point with him. He should always sit with the feet elevated at least on a footstool and avoid pressure on the backs of the legs on the edge of the chair. He should certainly avoid snowy streets.

The typicle example of the effects of cold on the feet is chilblains. It results from a previous mild frostbite and involves usually the heel or the toes. When again exposed to cold, the part becomes congested, and on being warmed there is itching, tingling and stinging, with swelling and redness. Sometimes it becomes covered with blisters; even ulceration may occur.

The best treatment for chilblains is prevention. When they have once occurred, they are certain to come on again with exposure. Warm stockings, loose shoes, no constricting garters will help protect. Mitchell, an Australian surgeon, treats chilblains on the principle of direct elastic pressure. Thin pieces of rubber, the weight of medium rubber gloves, are used in strips to cover the foot. The stocking is put on over them. He claims that the condition is relieved instantly.

If the chilblain has occurred, mild rubbing, bathing in cool water and alcohol are tried at first. Glycerin, either alone or in combination with boric acid, or tincture of idoine painted on the sore place, is of great value.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

No Self-Pity.

I will not let self-pity rule
Me, drive my sleep away,
I will not lie awake, rehearse
This word or that to say.

I will lie calmly in my bed
And try for proper rest,
For getting it will help me most
To fight my very best.

To fight tomorrow for the rights
That failed me; tears and fret,
These cannot help, nor pity for Myself—that I'll forget.

Timely Editorial

Horrible Examples.

When the swindler, Coster, put a pistol to his head, he not only pleaded guilty to any indictment that could be drawn, but conceded that his sins had caught up with him.

From Alcatraz comes word that Al Capone is paying for his past. For the worst of his crimes, society had never brought him to account, but from settling for his way of life there was no escape.

Not that an incipient Capone or Coster will be much deterred by the fates of these two, for monsters like them must move in response to some inner force immune to the warnings of experience or the moralists. But the lesson in the catastrophes that overtook them may have weight with the criminal who is nearer normal. Unless medical science finds a way to interfere, we shall always have to contend with personalities so warped as to be beyond redeeming. For those still capable of weighing the results of the criminal life, the dead Coster and lunatic Capone are figures worth considering. — Detroit News.

A Farmer's Diary

"Time Marches On!"

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THEY are tearing down the schoolhouse. I heard the sound of hammers as I passed, the screech of wrecking bars and saws. Above, the gaping openings in the bricks were bereft of windows and window frames.

That building, even now, looks strong and durable. Its outside walls have well withstood the ravages of time, but, like the aged Greeks, who were pushed by younger men over the pathless brink, so that only youth and beauty might endure, so this mighty building that has stood more than twice the span of our average life, is being blotted out.

Those wooden stairways and creaking floors have felt the march of many thousand youthful feet. Within those vacant classrooms have stood great teachers and receptive students. Many of those students now are leaders of the town, the state, the nation. No more used and useful building has been built than this one was, upon its standstone wall. It was the social and the cultural center, the democratic bulwark.

Soon the roof that sheltered one great, successive family so nobly all those years, will be torn from its moorings. The vital streams of aged mortar will flow down the long metal chutes to the waiting trucks, and the hard, unyielding bricks will fall, like clanking messengers of death.

So run my sentiments, and those of many thousands, who, like me, went to school within those walls.

The old, inadequate, unmodern, is yielding to something newer and better. It has outlived its purpose, and a building that fulfils the present needs will take its place. Yet, as we cry, "Ring out the old, ring in the new," we pause to doff our hats and give a last salute to what has been.

Listen, World!

Faith and Enthusiasm Don't "Just Happen."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

A QUEER thing has been happening to a lot of us lately... We seem to have slumped . . . gone sour on everyone and everything—and without any reasonable cause.

We're well enough, and sufficiently young to enjoy our good health. Business is picking up, we're not as nagged by finances. We'll be able to send the youngster to college, after all. Socially, things are just about the same. In spite of hard times, our old friends have stuck by us. We've managed to have a little fun, even when things were worst.

All of which, you think, would spell happiness. Yet it doesn't! There's something wrong, somewhere. We can't quite put our finger on it—but it's there. And other people notice it, remark on how we've changed. It's true—we have. Even during the worst of the depression we didn't feel as low as this. We could always manage to hold our heads up, find something to hope for, believe in . . . something to be happy about.

But lately, the old pep's gone. Life just isn't fun any more. People don't seem as friendly. Perhaps that's our fault—truth is, we don't feel as friendly ourselves. We're always discovering little faults and flaws we didn't notice in the old days . . . we've become suspicious, cynical, sick of everything.

What's wrong? Darnif we know! We change diets . . . take little trips . . . buy some new clothes—but nothing doing. We're still sunk. So we take it out in cussing the time. Or tell ourselves that "life begins at forty" and sit around, waiting for something to happen . . . some miracle that will restore our old faith and enthusiasm. But the miracle doesn't arrive. And it never will, until we realize one vital fact. Namely—

FAITH AND ENTHUSIASM DON'T "JUST HAPPEN"—

NOR CAN THEY BE ACQUIRED FROM ANY OUTSIDE SOURCE—

THEY ARE "INSIDE JOBS" WHICH WE MUST PERSONALLY WORK AT—OR ELSE!

You can't GET Faith and Enthusiasm as you'd get a sun-tan. You must MAKE them, by your own attitude. We aren't born believing in people—or being happy about life in general. There's no such thing as a "naturally happy disposition." There's a certain amount of spontaneous trust and delight which accompany healthy youth. But as soon as we enter adult life, we must BUILD OUR OWN ATTITUDES. Then Faith and Enthusiasm are no longer automatic; they are the result of DELIBERATE CHOICE . . . DEFINITE DECISION. We must determine to be happy and hopeful about circumstances instead of sour and indifferent.

LIFE IS AS WE TAKE IT . . . FATE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT. We all face the jumbled makings of tragedy or happiness. Out of those makings, each man selects his own destiny, not in one momentous decision but by his countless small, seemingly trivial thoughts and acts. Nothing "just happens" . . . nothing is "chance" or "luck." Whether we wear a sneer or a smile—IT'S ALWAYS THE RESULT OF OUR OWN VOTE.

That's why so many of us managed to stay hopeful and happy in spite of the depression—yet have slumped lately. We knew we HAD to be friendly and optimistic during the hard times—or we'd be licked. So we CHOSE cheerfulness . . . we DECIDED to see the better side of people and problems. But now the painful pressure has passed . . . we've stopped struggling.

AND WE'RE PICKING OUT OURSELVES A PAIN IN THE NECK!

You don't believe it? Just watch yourself for one day . . . check your reaction to every person or proposition you face. Write down your own attitude — honestly. YOU'LL BE SURPRISED!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is much sound advice to be found in a small brown pamphlet issued by the National Better Business bureau. It unmasks various rackets which crooks and swindlers practice on unwary visitors to New York, and as the governing fathers of this metropolis have no desire to see its guests city-slicked when they attend the fair this spring, this pamphlet has been widely distributed.

In a nutshell, it's a series of "don't's." "Not long ago," it says, "a retired police lieutenant was swindled out of $22,800 by a man he met while traveling. The victim had served 24 years on the police force of one of the largest and raciest cities in the world, and was supposedly well versed in criminal lore. But they took him just the same."

And the moral of this, I suppose, is, if they can take a crack police officer, YOU wouldn't offer any hazards whatever. So clip this out and paste it in the band of your hat when you board the train for the big town. It says:

* * *

DON'T carry or flash a large amount of cash. Use travelers' checks, or leave your money in the hotel safe, not in your room.

"Don't accept the apology of the stranger who opens your door by 'mistake.' Report the occurrence to the manager immediately.

"Don't fail to keep your jewels and valuable papers in the hotel safe when not needed.

"Don't carry your hotel key with you. If your pockets are picked you may lose your belongings.

"Don't forget that 'lush workers' are always prowling for drunks. Some of them are not very gentle.

"Don't match pennies or play even apparently harmless card games with strangers. It may be the beginning of a swindle.

"Don't ask advice from taxicab drivers. Ask a policeman.

"Don't fail to familiarize yourself with the particular type of lock on your hotel door. Some are spring locks, others must be locked with keys. Be sure your door is securely locked before you retire."

* * *

AND so it goes. Do not think these warnings are exaggerated. Frequently the most trivial incident leads to grief. Not long ago I was on a 5th avenue bus and a woman rose and approached the steps. Suddenly she stumbled and fell. She fell all the way to the street.

A man was standing there and could have caught her, but he stepped aside and let her fall.

I was astounded. "Why didn't he catch her?" I demanded of a total stranger who shared the seat with me.

"Maybe he's like I am," he replied. "I tried to save a fellow from a fall once—and lost my watch."

BOARD OK'S 3 ROAD PROJECTS

Ashland Commissioners Act to Improve Highways in County System.

ASHLAND — County commissioners here gave approval to the proposed improvement of three county highways in 1939 at a road meeting held in the Ashland county courthouse.

The roads to be improved, and against which no claims for damages were received at the meetin, include No. 83 in Vermillion and Mifflin townships at a cost of $6,820.44 for the 2.405 miles; No. 83 in Vermillion township at a cost of $4,491.44 for the distance of 1.528 miles and No. 9 in Clear Creek and Orange townships at a cost of $5,999.92 for 2.827 miles.

It was also announced that consideration will be given to the changing of a road course for No. 83 in Vermillion and Mifflin townships if it can be arranged to eliminate the possibility of a $500 damage claim. If the proposed change goes through, it will mean the elimination of four creek bridges by the changing of a stream bed.

The plans for the elimination of these bridges now under the consideration of L. E. Shenberger, county engineer, will be announced later, it was stated.

The commissioners also announced the completion of the survey for the improvements of road 154 in Perry and Jackson townships with an estimated $7,572.14 for the distance of 3.354 miles, but it will probably be some time before definite action will be taken, as there must yet be held a road meeting to determine damage claims.

The engineer's staff is also working on plans regarding the probable improvement of .875 miles of road No. 31 in Clear Creek township, and 3.003 miles of road 50 in Milton township. Other roads which are now being viewed with the thought of improving them include roads 80 and 85.

GALION—A strong wind Tuesday caused Mrs. Allie Stentz to suffer four broken ribs. The wind blew a garage door against her and threw her against her automobile.

"HAVEN'T FELT SO WELL IN YEARS," SAYS HOME TOWN LADY

East Park Ave. Resident Asserts Long Suffering From Bilious Feelings, Dizziness, Coated Tongue, Spots Before Eyes, Due to Constipation. Have Vanished Since Taking Vendol. Recommends it to All Who Suffer.

MRS. JESSIE B. LEMUNYON

"Truly, I haven't felt so well in years and I owe it all to taking Vendol," are the enthusiastic words of Mrs. Jessie B. LeMunyon, a well known and highly respected lady living at 176 Park Ave. East, Mansfield, in a recent conversation with the Vendol Man who is now daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and 4th Sts., meeting the public and explaining all about this great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine.

"I don't know what I would have done had I not found Vendol when I did. Constipation had been bothering me for the longest time, and here of late just everything went wrong. I lost all desire for food and although I ate just about enough to keep me alive, meals always distressed me with indigestion, quantities of painful gas, sourness, acid-risings and heartburn. Headaches were by no means strangers to me, and my nerves were so ragged that I almost forgot what sound sleep at night was like.

"I heard of so many local people getting relief in cases similar to mine, however that I determined to try Vendol myself.

"Sure enough, it helped me just as it did all those other folks. First, it got my bowels moving more efficiently than they had in years. And now, though I've taken it just a short time, I have such a healthy appetite that I can hardly wait for mealtime, and what a pleasure it is to know that I can now eat my fill without suffering in the slightest afterwards. Not only that, I haven't had a headache in weeks and my nerves are so calm that I sleep like a baby every night. I most certainly wish to take this opportunity to publicly recommend Vendol to every person who suffers like I used to."

Give this great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine a chance to help you, too. Most all leading druggists sell it and the Vendol Man (formerly at Weinberger's) invites everyone to call at the Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and 4th Sts., and let him explain all about it. Come in today—there is no charge.—Adv.

STATE WELFARE BUREAUS GAVE 150,000 FUNDS

$36,598,000 Disbursed by Departments to Aged and Crippled Children.

By PETER A. ZORN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Nearly 150,000 Ohioans benefited during 1938 in the distribution of $36,598,000 from the old age pension, aid to dependent and crippled children, and indigent blind assistance programs.

The total included $15,364,000 in grants from the Federal Social Security board, which contributes in varying degrees to these forms of public assistance.

Greatest disbursements were in the division of aid for the aged, which expended $30,071,410, including $13,474,456 in federal funds.

The pension rolls increased steadily, and in December stood at 111,736, a gain of more than 7,000 cases during the year. Approximately 16,000 additional applications were on file pending investigation and determination of need.

$23 Average Pension.

Individual pension grants varied from $3 to $30 a month, with an average of $23. Payments in excess of $30 are prohibited by law. Checks were sent out monthly, although the state was forced to borrow from the general revenue fund to pay the full October amount when the Social Security board withheld its half on the contention that the Ohio system was not being administered properly.

On the basis of budgets prepared for pension recipients, statisticians of the division estimated that approximately $16,000,000 in pensions eventually went for groceries, $4,000,000 for rent, $3,000,000 for utilities, $3,000,000 for clothing, $2,000,000 for insurance and miscellaneous items, and $2,000,000 for medical and dental care.

The division of public assistance reported that during the year aid was provided 31,000 dependent children at a cost of $5,061,000; 3,900 needy blind persons at $902,000, and 3,200 crippled children at $562,700.

The federal government contributed $1,300,000 for dependent children; $439,304 for the blind and $150,000 for crippled youths. Balances were supplied by state and local governments.

Henry J. Robison, chief of the public assistance division, advocated legislation to permit the federal government to increase its dependent children's appropriation by approximately $1,000,000 annually, which he said would permit the Ohio program to absorb 8,000 youths eligible for aid.

Robison reported an increase of three per cent in the dependent children case load, with only slight rises in the other two branches of his division.

"WHY HITLER CAME INTO POWER," by Theodore Abel (Prentice-Hall: $2.75).

* * *

THE many who have distrusted the glib and whirligig pronouncements of John Strachey can do no better than go through Theodore Abel's "Why Hitler Came Into Power."

They will find that Strachey's hand-me-down reasoning (if such it can be called) has very little more weight than has the equally facile writing of the psychoanalytical school on the German question

Strachey insists that Hitler and Hitlerism is the result of a capitalist plot to save capitalism—putting it briefly, perhaps too briefly. Professor Abel claims this is not true. The psychoanalytical school, reasoning back from the fait accompli, explains Hitler with equal positiveness and equal lack of logic.

Professor Abel had in intelligent idea five years ago. When the redoubtable Adolf took over, Abel tried to get someone to put up money for a thorough inquiry into the reasons for his success. But our great foundations and so forth couldn't see it, preferring to spend money encouraging second rate poets and such. So Abel took over himself.

He went to Germany, posted a prize of 400 marks at Nazi headquarters, and asked for biographies by Hitler followers telling why they were following. Even with the prize so low, Abel got 683 manuscripts from every sort and class of Nazi. As many have suspected from the first, the obvious reasons for Hitler's success are the true ones.

That is to say, Abel's inquiry indicates that Hitler came as the answer to the people's prayer. The people, defeated in war, robbed at Versailles, impoverished by the inflation period, hamstrung in the matter of securing raw materials in the later 1920's, looked above themselves and found a government which did little or nothing which had no answers.

But since the early 1920's rumors of a man who had the answers had been running through the land. The man's followers even had had the great fortune to be martyrs, some of them. There came a day when some answer had to be found, and there stood that strangely moustached figure—Der Fuehrer!

It was not quite so simple as the foregoing, of course, but that's the main course of events. Abel does not say that the capitalists have not used Hitler since his accession, or that all the conclusions of the psychoanalists are wrong. He only says what actual research on the home grounds has taught him.

CHAPTER 34.

TWO WEEKS after Thornton Holgate had become a hero at Galveston, the Houston newspapers again printed his portrait on their front pages.

"Holgate Honored by Faculty," one paper headlined it, stating in the article that he had been elected president of the Rice Faculty club. It meant, simply, that his own colleagues had recognized his popularity. He was the youngest man ever to head the Faculty club. It had happened on Saturday, and he had hastened to Sara Sue with the news, even before the papers carried it.

"It's wonderful!" she assured him. "It means that you really are making progress in your personality development, Thornton. What are you going to do to celebrate?"

"I do not know. I have telegraphed my mother in Massachusetts. But I—I came next to you, Sara Sue. I shall have to do many more things now, in a social way. The club has its own group dances and bridge parties, as well as its serious considerations from time to time. It meets every week!"

He said the last as if it were an appalling fact.

"Suppose it does? That's fine! You can handle it, Thornton. You must practice dancing more, though; you are still a bit awkward. Have you danced with strangers any?"

"Strangers?"

"Sure. Girls you don't know. Just break-in dances."

Of course he had not. She might as well have asked him if he had ever robbed any strange banks. But she knew that a man acquires poise and self-assurance if he does mingle socially with strangers.

"Tell you what—we're going to Sylvan Beach tonight," she declared then. "This is Saturday. Every sailor in the ship channel will be there with his girl. They'll have some wide open dances. You'll get a lot of practice. I'll give you your next lesson on the dance floor, Number 100."

She still called him customer 100 on occasions, remembering that he had been the 100th person to sign for her counsel in romance.

He called for her at 8 o'clock, and when she saw him she barely recognized him.

"Thornton! You look grand! I never saw you in your tux before!"

"Ah—some of the faculty assemblies will be quite formal, I am told."

"Yes, but—well, all right. I don't imagine anyone else will have on a tux where we are going tonight, though. But no matter."

"It occured to me that I might as well accustom myself to wearing it while dancing also. I have worn it on certain occasions, often. But I have not danced in it."

Sara Sue deliberately chose the largest and perhaps most democratic of the various dance halls to be found in the Sylvan Beach area. And her guess had been right—it was full of seagoing men and boys, some just arrived in port, some having their last fling before sailing. The hall itself would have been an excellent place to store hay, or used cars, or almost anything bulky. Stripped of its bunting and electric lights and white wash, it would have been exactly what its name (in three-foot letters) proclaimed: YE OLDE BARN.

But it had a smooth floor. And an orchestra with volume enough to be heard distinctly, which made up in boom-boom rhythm what it may have lacked in the finer nuances of music. It had an odor, too: an odor of many people and many inexpensive perfumes, mingled with touches of buttered popcorn and things to drink. It had tiny booths around its sides, and for 25 cents you could lease a table and two chairs. Dances cost five cents each, pay as you go.

"It's full already, and by midnight it'll be crowded," Sara Sue guessed.

"It is a very colorful assembly," her escort declared.

"You mean, 'The gang's all here,' don't you, Thorny?"

He laughed with her. He had been making some progress at humanizing his precise, scholarly conversation. She halted now to give him instructions.

"Dance with me a time or two, so you'll be accustomed to the place. Then take a pocketful of tickets and dance with any unattached girl you like, Thorny. Just go up and ask her. It's the style here. Nobody will know you. None of the Rice crowd ever comes here. That's why I suggested this place."

It was a hard dosage for him, at first.

Hard for Thornton Holgate, Ph. D., to ask a painted up little girl, whose name he didn't even know, to dance with him. But he managed it. He blushed and stammered, but he managed it. And danced with her reasonably well.

He didn't discover it at first, but within an hour or so he was having a corking good time. "May I have the next dance?" he would ask some pretty girl, and away he'd go! There was, about this, a thrill of conquest. Such as a hunter knows when bagging choice game. Or a fisherman hooking fine bass.

It simply never occurred to Thornton that he looked like the proverbial million dollars to this crowd. He and his semi-formal clothes looked like class. He outshone every other man present. He was distinguished looking, and actually handsome, now that he had left his glasses at home. His face was animated, his conversation correct but not too prim. The whole experience was tonic to him, and quite unwittingly he impressed most of the women and girls there.

By the same taken, however, he also impressed the men.

A girl who said her name was Leila White introduced him to her husband.

"How do you do?" bowed Dr. Holgate.

"Shake, glad t'meetcha." Mr. White, a ship's carpenter, responded.

* * *

Mr. White smelled of the sea. He weighed more than 200. His muscles bulged. But his eyes were wide and frank, which offset his need of a shave. "Don't never see many important people here, Holgate," he avowed. "Proud to know you."

Now that was simply, directly said, and Mr. White was dancing on away. But the sincerity of it thrilled Thornton as much as a eulogy from Dr. Lovett would have done. The young faculty man felt a warmth within him. These were mostly poor people, but good people, fine and American and devoid of sham. Proud to know you!

He danced next with a black-eyed stranger who was wearing an all-red evening gown. She clung so close that she embarrassed him. She saw that fact—and clung closer still! When she saw that people were watching them, she edged him toward the center and planted her cheek against his, closing her eyes in rapture.

Dr. Holgate was appalled, but he went on dancing, looking guiltily for Sara Sue. He did not know it, but that was Francine Powers, head hostess for Ye Olde Barn, who liked to give important customers a thrill.

He left her when he could, and hurried to find Sara Sue. She had seen him—and just for devilment she presended to be angry. But she couldn't keep up the pose; the hurt look in his eyes would not let her. She had to laugh.

"You're getting a lot of practice Thornton," she assured him then. "Soon you will be absolutely at ease, in any kind of society."

"I think so," he agreed. "I am—it is actually pleasure! Mostly."

But—ah me, Thornton. One does not conquer a world in a single evening.

* * *

It is nice, to be sure, to have a burly ship worker adopt you for a friend, and not be jealous when you dance twice with his pretty wife. It is nice to have many girls admire you openly. It is even nice—in its way—to have a pretty woman dance with her cheek against yours; that is, it is a satisfactory sensation. But these things do not mean that a permanent bridge to happiness has been built.

Sara Sue Davis herself was pretty. She might well have won any contest to select the pretticst girl there. The men present were not blind to that fact. Especially was Mr. Duke O'Reilly conscious of her, immediately after he arrived.

Effinger, Accused Black Legion Head, Loses Appeal

FACES ARREST AS HIGH COURT DENIES WRIT

Appeal to U. S. Tribunal Only Path Open to Escape Crime Charge in Michigan.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—His last hope for relief in state courts gone, Virgil H. Effinger, of Lima, accused head of the Black Legion, faced arrest today unless he appealed to the United States supreme court in his attempt to escape extradition to Michigan to face trial on charges of criminal syndicalism and bomb possession.

The Ohio supreme court late yesterday overruled his motion for a rehearing in his suit for a writ of habeas corpus to escape custody of the Allen county sheriff. Attorneys for Effinger have indicated that an appeal to the U. S. tribunal would be made. The man now is free under bond.

Ouster Dropped.

Ouster proceedings against the Western Adjustment company, in which violation of its corporate authority had been charged, were dismissed by the court upon request of the attorney general's office. The complaint also charged that the company had been writing various kinds of insurance and had been guilty of "bribing witnesses." There was no explanation from Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy why he asked dismissal of the case, which was filed during his absence in France.

Other rulings by the court:

Approved $10,000 damage verdict awarded the estate of William Smith of Sandusky county from the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Highway, Inc., for fatal injuries in an automobile wreck;

Approved $2,000 damages awarded Bennette L. Bade of Green Springs, Sandusky county, from William A. Rothaker for hurts received when the boy's bicycle was hit by Rothaker's automobile;

Approved $6,500 judgment to Ruth E. Bickley of Erie county from Sears, Roebuck and company, for injuries sustained in fall in company store.

Turned down appeal of Harry Daugherty of Newark from conviction on a charge of robbing the night clerk of the Sherwood hotel of Newark of $220 on Nov. 6, 1937.

Approved $5,666 judgment given estate of Asa Elsea of Pickaway county from Benedict Transportation Lines, Inc., as a result of motor crash which caused his death.

Movies' Original 'Biograph Girl' Victim of Suicide

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—(AP)—Florence Lawrence, 52, the original "biograph girl" of the early day screen, was listed a suicide in police records today.

Unable to regain her health, she said in a farewell note, she swallowed poison yesterday at her home. She died a short time later.

Dr. Lester Laurian, who was called in an attempt to save Miss Lawrence's life, disclosed he had been treating her for 18 months for a bone disease.

It was in 1907, 31 years ago, that Miss Lawrence entered motion pictures. She had made her stage debut at the age of six as "Baby Flo, the child wonder."

She was born in Hamilton, Ontario, just 40 miles from the Toronto birthplace of Mary Pickford, who succeeded her as the "biograph girl."

At Carl Laemmle, sr's pioneer Imp studio she starred in many celluloid dramas, later working for him again at Universal with Miss Pickford, Lillian and Dorothy Gish and other celebrities of the era.

For the past three years, Miss Lawrence had been a stock player at M-G-M studio.

Up and Down THE STREET

If members of troops running for office for the Boy Scout Civic Day to be held in Shelby ever become candidates for public office in later years, they will probably never make the mistake they did in their debut in "politics." The primaries for Civic Day were to be held next Tuesday, but it has been necessary to postpone them for several weeks because none of the scout candidates filed a petition. They said they merely forgot. The primaries follow the general election plans and petitions must be filed two weeks before the primary.

Mansfielders who attended Denison university when "Uncle Charlie" West was a sedate professor there, are chuckling over the references in New York papers to West as a "man about town" after he had escorted Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, member by marriage of the famous Vanderbilt clan and social arbiter, to the $75,000 "coming out" party for Debutante Brenda Frazier the other night. West has "branched out" considerably since he gave up his professorship to become congressman from this 17th district, then "contact man" and confidant of President Roosevelt on Capitol Hill, and now as the "man about town" escort of Mrs. Vanderbilt.

Getting out of ice-bound Mansfield in an automobile is no fun, Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools found yesterday on a trip to Columbus to attend a state school session. "It required 50 minutes to go to Mt. Gilead, about 25 miles, and only an hour for the rest of the trip to Columbus," Miller said. The ice belt ends at Mt. Gilead, and south of that there is neither snow nor ice, he said.

Mrs. Florence Marquis, 44 Stewart avenue, has learned that no matter how cute a small pig may look with a red ribbon around his neck, he is still a pig and stubborn as a—well, as a pig. She gave her brother, C. F. Routzahn, latest recruit to Mansfield's list of "city farmers," the porker for a Chrismas gift, and fixed it up "awful purty" with bells and red ribbons and planned to lead it into the room for the presentation. But this little piggie refused to be led and set up a terrific squealling. When she picked him up, he proved to be a couple of handfuls of squirming pork and the entire household was disrupted before the gift was delivered — or rather dumped — into Farmer Routzahn's hands.

SHERWOOD NEW WELFARE CHIEF

Appointment Leaves 2 Cabinet Posts to Be Filled by Governor-Elect.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — Two cabinet posts remained to be filled by Gov.-Elect John W. Bricker today following announcement of the appointment of Charles L. Sherwood, Fremont, as director of the department of welfare.

Still to be appointed are the health director and liquor control director.

Sherwood, who was assistant director and fiscal supervisor of the welfare department during the administration of former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, will succeed Mrs. Margaret Allman, of Canton. Mrs. Allman has been welfare director four years, being appointed by Governor Davey.

Sixth of the Bricker cabinet appointees, Sherwood, who is 55 years old, is a native of Sandusky county. As executive secretary of the Ohio Mental Hygiene association since 1931, he has maintained offices in Columbus.

During his term as assistant welfare director, Sherwood had charge of budget preparation and legislative presentation for the department. He had general supervision of the engineering, agricultural and vocational divisions of the department, and of the prison industries in his capacity of fiscal supervisor.

His new cabinet post pays an annual salary of $6,500.

AUDITORS SENT OUT TO CHECK ON 77 M'KESSON WAREHOUSES

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Engineers and accountants were dispatched to all parts of the country today for a hurried inventory and audit of the 77 warehouses of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., which will disclose the full damage done the drugs firm by its swindling president, "F. Donald Coster," who killed himself when he was exposed as Philip Musica, an ex-convict.

The firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis, industrial engineers, sent out 60 men. They will begin inventories simultaneously Dec. 31 and will complete their appraisals in three days. Auditors from S. D. Leidesdorf and company will then draw up a financial statement of McKesson and Robbins as of the year-end. They were already at work on the firm's books.

William J. Wardall, sole trustee of the drugs firm, had federal district court assign the two agencies to the job yesterday.

Wardall said "we are taking nothing for granted. The two firms engaged for the investigation . . . have been instructed to make a thorough and exhaustive check on all physical and financial aspects of the situation."

It was known already that the company was short $18,000,000 of its $86,500,000 listed assets; that its crude drugs department supposed to own $10,000,000 worth of supplies and $8,000,000 in bills payable, was non-existent. Whether Coster-Musica's mismanagement, his sideline dealings in bootleg liquor and munitions, his payments to blackmailers who knew for 12 years that he was a masquerading crook, had cost the firm anything more than that, will be determined soon after the first of the year.

Three persons charged with having blackmailed the swindler, were held yesterday under bail ranging from $5,000 to $7,500, and federal authorities said that the arrests of more suspected blackmailers were expected hourly. Those held were Walter H. Cragg, 57, a disbarred lawyer; Joseph Brandino, 61, and his sister, Mary Brandino, 37.

ELECT BOWMAN

Ohio Educators Pick Officers, End Annual Convention.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—George A. Bowman, superintendent of the Lakewood city schools, headed the Ohio Education association today.

He was elected at the closing session of the organization's 17th annual meeting last night, defeating Clayton M. Howe of Cincinnati and Clyde Van Tassel of Toledo. Bowman succeeds E. O. McCowen of Portsmouth. W. R. Bell of Carrolton was named vice president.

The association tabled a resolution proposing that the minimum limit upon which deductions may be made under the teachers' retirement act be increased from $2,000 to $3,000. Other tabled resolutions asked an annual appropriation of $750,000 for rehabilitation of existing properties in weak school districts, and that programs of necessary one-teacher and two-teacher schools be not uniformly held at the present levels of $1,150 and $2,400 respectively.

THOUSANDS OF AGENTS UNITED FOR CAMPAIGN

Federal Operatives Organized Into Gigantic Policing Unit to Detect Espionage.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—In a major offensive against foreign espionage activities in the United States and its possessions, the treasury today mobilized thousands of its enforcement agents to assist in ferreting out spies.

A formal order issued by Internal Revenue Commissioner Guy T. Helvering directed operatives of the various detective units under his supervision to keep a sharp watch for evidence of spy operations.

Helvering's order embraces the entire investigative personnel of the internal revenue bureau, including operatives of the alcohol tax unit and the bureau's intelligence service. The bureau maintains many field offices and officials in charge of these field units will direct any espionage investigations in their regions.

Heads Investigators.

Elmer Irey, chief of the bureau's intelligence unit, has been named co-ordinator of the spy investigative work. All evidence of espionage activities that may be uncovered will be transmitted to other interested government departments by Irey.

It is expected that other treasury police units, including the secret service, the coast guard, the customs bureau and the bureau of narcotics also will be enlisted in the anti-spy drive.

Mobilization of the treasury agents is part of a general counter-espionage campaign now being studied by President Roosevelt. The president recently announced that every resource at the command of the federal government will be thrown into the drive against the undercover activities of foreign powers.

During the World war, the treasury was active in counter-espionage work. The secret service, in particular, exposed a number of sensational spy plots during this period.

FAIR ENOUGH!

To Prevent a Great Loss, Pegler Will Bequeath All His Notes to the Public

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Finding himself in a mellow, holiday mood, the author of these dispatches has decided to do something rather handsome for posterity.

You know how it is when great writers die and leave their papers in a jumble. Their kinsfolk fail to appreciate the importance to the world of the spoiled leads, the magazine rejects, the letters and all which lie about their desks and permit these priceless mementos to be carried off as souvenirs by percipient worshipers or just thrown away and burned as trash.

Or, if their kinnery be smart and without public spirit, these papers become the private property of their heirs and are kept in private possession, inaccessible except by special permission, grudgingly given if given at all, to students of the life and times, the inner character and the achievements of the deceased.

* * *

In either case, the result is a great loss, or great denial, to the world in after years, and any man with the sense of value to permit him to recognize his own greatness and the courage to admit it to himself and the public owes it to mankind to make appropriate arrangements.

Therefore your correspondent has decided to bequeath the contents of his desk to the public. The letters on the right-hand pile are the latest ones, and those on the left have been lying around for some time, awaiting answers. Quite a lot of them never will be answered, anyway, because your correspondent doesn't know the answers, and there are others in both heaps which will not be answered because they are indecipherable.

* * *

There are also a lot of books and pamphlets for and against Nazi-Fascism and Communism, and it has often occurred to your correspondent; along with a distinct chill, that if it ever should happen here, one way or another, he wouldn't stand a Chinaman's chance in one of those kitchen table people's courts, because he surely would be caught with subversive literature. The Communists would blow him through for a counter-revolutionist for possessing the Hitler and Mussolini stuff accumulated in Europe, and the Fascists, turned to bullets instead of ballots, would refuse to believe that the Browder and Trotsky stuff was innocently held. That, however, is just an aside.

The obstacle to this decision was a mere matter of taste and self-appreciation.

Yet, if a president perceives himself to be a latter-day Lincoln and his political opponents traitors of the contemptible type who beset the path of the martyr, it is his duty to the world to admit his greatness and take steps to preserve the records of his struggle for future generations.

A too sensitive regard for modesty might object, but such a man's very greatness would carry him over this petty obstacle and give him the candor to recognize himself as an historic if, in some quarters, insufficiently appreciated benefactor. If a great man foresees that in 50 or 100 years the people will wish they had made a shrine to him, equipped with papers and intimate relics of interest to historians and of inspiration to citizens, he should not wait for the future to conform his own opinion.

With the case of William Shakespeare in mind, your correspondent has decided to obviate the deplorable confusion and doubts which have befogged the record and to prevent any necessity, 500 years from now, for delving into the honored grave of his contemporary, Hugh S. Johnson, for a solution of the question, "Did This Egg Have a Bacon?"

As to the matter of archives and a shrine to General Johnson, he himself will have to make his own decision. Maybe he thinks he is pretty good, and, if so, he certainly should make the necessary arrangements, but, speaking strictly for himself, your correspondent is determined to do this for posterity and let the jeers rise if they must.

* * *

The Shakespeare trouble would have been avoided had he had the wisdom to know how well he wrote and the consideration for posterity to provide a neat bundle and a sworn statement covering the Bacon thing, accompanied by affidavits from witnesses.

Of course, there may be critics of the moment who will see ill taste, perhaps even mild presumption, in your correspondent's own acknowledgement of his worth, but let them scoff and let it be hoped that 500 years from now, for humiliation of their memory and the vindication of true vision, some record of their estimate will be preserved in the same collection.

They scoffed at Shakespeare, didn't they?

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Less than four years ago Richard Barthelmess said goodbye to Hollywood stardom. His goodbye piece was a melodrama called "Four Hours to Kill."

With a couple of million dollars, more or less, stowed away as his reward for a stardom that had endured since "Tol'able David" in 1921, Barthelmess tucked away his career and started out to live the life of ease which in his youth had seemed beyond hope of attainment.

Anyway, he sojourned with Mrs. Barthelmess in New York and abroad—where he nearly lost his eyesight from a streptococcus infection — and apparently didn't have any fun.

Maybe it was because Europe isn't so much fun any more; maybe is was because his pals, Ronald Colman and William Powell, were both busy—and at the peak—in Hollywood. Barthelmess came home, and signed for his debut as a screen character actor, no longer a star, in "Plane No. 4."

"The old story of the firehorse who couldn't stay at pasture," he said at the press party he gave, as usual, to celebrate his return to the profession.

It was a very nice party, as usual, but there was something odd, and a little saddening, about it too.

* * *

The turnover in the ranks of Hollywood scribes is nearly as great as in the ranks of actors. There were many, many faces new to Mr. Barthelmess, who played host with his customary attentive courtesy. And then—

There was one lonesome-looking reporter in a corner of the big dining hall where the hors d'oeuvres were spread. He stood apart, searching the crowd for someone. When he was approached by a solicitous stranger who inquired, "Can I get you anything?" The chap said: "Oh, I'm looking for Mr. Brown, the publicity director —you aren't Mr. Brown, are you?"

"No," said the other without changing expression. "I'm—Mr. Barthelmess."

* * *

It isn't recommended procedure nowadays, but Buck Jones' formula for marital happiness includes getting married while both bride and bridegroom are stonebroke. That, at least, is what Buck and the former Odelle Osborn, who is still Mrs. Jones, did 20 years ago.

Perhaps inspired to romantic reminiscence by his new film, "Me and My Gal," Buck told of the days when he was a professional bronc-buster and his wife was a trick rider with another show. Seems they met one spring, and it was love. When next they met, that autumn, both were jobless.

"I told her, 'We can't be any worse off. Let's get married'," said Buck. "So we did. And we started out without a thin dime."

Today the Joneses live on one of the valley's finer ranches. Buck says he can't figure why so many movie marriages fold up. Unless—maybe—it's because:

"Modern folks haven't got enough dirt under their shoes."

Guy Kibbee and Raymond Walburn, often mistaken for each other, are cast together in "Song of the West."

Kibbee, te bald, will wear a thick toothbrush mustache, and Walburn, for contrast, has let his hair grow long and wears a goatee and handlebar mustache.
